

BOOTH Sitting

Office booths are modular structures that placed within the shared spaces of an office can guarantee a minimum level of privacy, recreating a space where it is possible to exchange ideas or hold short briefings with colleagues and customers. This new concept of flexible space lays on the idea that focus and creativity can find a more breeding ground in informal spaces than in ordinary meeting rooms around a table. Office booths can be placed in office spaces depending on specific needs. Some spaces might require office booths to be installed against a wall, or freely in the middle of an open-plan space or of a quite large room.
