STRANO NEWS

It's Christmas Motherfuckers!!

Well, it's that time of year when the Strano Brothers don red suits and go to your neighborhood grocery store and pretend that we're collecting donations for the Salvation Army. Does that anger you? Well, it shouldn't! Considering, it's all your fault. We wouldn't have to take advantage of your generous holiday nature if you would've just bought our books during the year. Motherfuckers!

Considering our humor, I think you fuckin' assholes reading this may enjoy some of the same Christmas Classics that we enjoy. So, be sure to check out the Christmas Entertainment Classics: It's Always Sunny in Philadelphia (Xmas Episode), Trailer Park Boys (Xmas Specials), and all the Santa and Mrs. Claus parodies you can find on PornHub.

Another major benefit of Christmas is that you get some motherfuckin' presents, yo! I don't mean those lame office "Holiday" party presents that suck balls and you gotta pretend you like, I'm talking real gifts. Like those cans of spam and orange Tic-Tacs I got last year. I got a feeling I might get a bunch of Romaine lettuce this year, along with whatever else my brother Matt can find in the grocery store dumpster while I'm up front pretending to be in the Salvation Army. Man, I can't wait to sell a bunch of these books so we can afford good ass presents like beer, cigarettes, and prostitutes. That's the true meaning of Christmas!

Christmas Safety by Dr. Squatsenfartz

Christmas is not my favorite time of year. Christmas time is usually when people stop dying so much. The death season really peaks around Black Friday and then slows down rapidly. That means I am doing a lot of crossword puzzles around the Coroner's Office trying to kill time. But, they're still some Christmas safety tips I'd like to pass along to you.

Do not drive recklessly on ice. And, always be careful of black ice. Black ice is the worst type of ice because you can't see it. I suggest that as you're driving to stop on the roadway every few minutes and stick your foot out the door, slide your foot back and forth on the pavement to check its slipperiness. This will ensure you are avoiding the black ice areas. Just be careful for other travelers. They may not understand what you're doing, so just go over to their vehicle and inform them of this safety tip, so they can live through this holiday season.

Another danger during Christmas time is the dumb dads that dress like Satan and try to slide down their chimney to surprise their kids. This is very dangerous because chimneys aren't meant to be slid down. Rather than come down the chimney just jump up and down on your icy roof and shout, it's Satan Claus with presents!

Important Message From Unimportant Cop

We typically avoid the police at all costs but this unimportant cop was pretty cool and he said he needed our help to rescue a huge douchebag motherfucker. Thinking that this douchebag might buy a book if we help rescue him, we gave in and interviewed this unimportant cop.

Strano News: So, what's the deal, Barney Fife?

UC: Well, a Navy pilot has gone missing and we can't seem to find him.

Strano News: Ugh, you didn't tell us that he was Navy. We probably wouldn't have done this interview if you told us that.

UC: He's not just in the Navy, he's also a butt model. And, he's known to fly overseas for butt modeling gigs, but he normally returns safely except for when he crashes in the middle of the ocean.

Strano News: Have you checked the middle of the ocean?

UC: Yes, that's the first place we checked but he wasn't there. So now we are really scratching our heads down at the station.

Strano News: How much drugs do you guys got in the evidence locker down at the station? And what kinds of drugs? Anything good?

UC: We got more drugs than Warehouse World has juice boxes and barrels of pickles. We normally keep a good supply of weed and coke but heroin is making a powerful comeback, so we have a bunch of that too. We got a bunch of this stuff called fentanyl, but we been putting that in each others coffee as pranks! What a surprise you get when you realize that you just drank a cup of fentanyl. All you can do is laugh and ask for a shot of Narcan.

Strano News: That sounds like fun! Do you give tours? What about free samples?

UC: We do give tours and samples, but they ain't free. We currently have a $99.99 combo pack where you get a tour of the evidence room, you get to fill one pant-pocket with as many drugs as it'll fit and then you get to go for a ride-along with a couple of rookie cops that are reckless as fuck and high on meth.

Strano News: Can I borrow $99.99?

UC: Sorry, I can probably lend it to you when I become an important cop but you don't get paid very well when you're unimportant.

Strano News: Well, in that case get the fuck out!

UC: Okay, but please help us save Max. That's Max Johnson not that Maxie Padd alien you've been trying to save. I'm pretty sure that alien is dead by now.

Aliens Are Hard to Find!

Do you know what I think is pathetic? You! You, America! You were equipped with the tools and power to rescue intelligent life from another fucking planet, but you were too caught up in social media and porn to type four little words into your Tweeters. Well, now Maxie Padd is probably dead, just rotting in some hidden trailer park somewhere in Arkansas. Well, we're not giving up hope, we need to find this little fucker so we can get Dr. Squatsenfartz to do an autopsy on him so we can discover what alien guts look like. I heard they're full of powder and kinda look like that dude from the Powder movie, you know the guy that also starred in Boondock Saints. What was I saying? Who knows I'm still exhausted from trying to find $99.99 in the couch cushions.

Final Newsletter Nutcrack

I hope we didn't offend anyone with our Christmas rant in the beginning of this newsletter, we're going to try real hard to be less offensive. So, happy holidays you punk-motherfucker-politically-correct-assholes. We celebrate Christmas in the Strano household goddamn it, so we also write about Christmas and not all the other holidays that happen around this time of year. We don't know as much about those holidays, although we did watch the episode of Seinfeld about Festivus and that seems pretty cool. But, we want to wish you a happy-whatever-the-fuck-you-celebrate because we aim to please everyone around here with our wholesome-ass-books! Anyways, here's some of that wholesomeness right out of our book, Fire and Furry. Stick this in your pipe and smoke it, Satan Claus:

"I need tiki torches or some sort of outside illumination because we need to see when it's dark outside and we tried glow sticks before but they just aren't bright enough but tiki torches were a great solution and cheap and they last just long enough for us to get through the week or is there another option because I can't think of one please oh please help!"

"What?" asked the employee.

"What can I use besides tiki torches?" Chipmunk conceded.

"Well," began the employee while scratching his chin, "you could use glow sticks maybe. They're over on aisle fifteen, next to the barrels of pickles. If you see the giant boxes of maxi pads, you've gone too far."

Big Sale on Juice Boxes and Pickles

What would the holiday season be without a pallet of juice boxes and a big barrel of pickles? Probably not very fun! Get on down to Warehouse World where you can stock up on these holiday favorites. Oh, and maxi pads are on sale too! They're located by the barrels of pickles for some reason.
