A Mandate for Revival and Education in East Africa

Brief Summary

The Living Faith Movement seeks to ignite a widespread spiritual revival across East Africa, extending beyond personal faith to influence every sector of society. Central to this mission is the creation of The Living Faith Bible College—a foundational institution designed to nurture a new generation of leaders grounded in both spiritual conviction and academic excellence.

Mandate for Revival

- Spiritual Awakening: The Movement calls for a deep renewal of faith, cultivating a culture of prayer, worship, and service.
- Social Transformation: It champions justice, heals divisions, and elevates marginalized communities through education.
- Economic Enlightenment: By integrating faith and work, the Movement inspires ethical business and community development.
- Educational Reform: Revival is sustained by education that shapes both minds and hearts for future generations.

The Birth of the Bible College

The College will serve as the intellectual and spiritual hub of the Movement, equipping students to become agents of transformation. Its foundation rests on three pillars:

- Biblical Foundation: All programs are rooted in scriptural authority.
- Holistic Education: Spiritual formation is integrated with academic rigor.
- Missional Focus: Students are empowered to advance revival in their communities and beyond.

Growth and Academic Vision

Initially, the College will focus on theological and ministerial training, preparing leaders for revival movements. Over time, it aims to evolve into a full Christian college offering degrees in diverse disciplines such as business, health sciences, social work, technology, and the arts. The curriculum will blend faith and reason to produce ethical, visionary graduates.

Phased Development Plan

1. Launch certificate and diploma programs in biblical studies and ministry.
2. Introduce undergraduate degrees in theology and related fields.
3. Expand into professional and technical disciplines.
4. Establish postgraduate and research programs, contributing to Africa's intellectual and spiritual life.

Long-Term Vision and Impact

The College aspires to produce graduates who are spiritually mature, academically competent, and socially responsible serving in churches, government, business, and civil society. Its influence will be transformative, empowering local churches, raising ethical professionals, strengthening civic engagement, and promoting research and innovation.

Challenges and Opportunities

While challenges like funding, accreditation, and infrastructure are anticipated, the Movement sees abundant opportunities through strategic partnerships and collaboration, aiming to inspire similar initiatives continent-wide.
