Introducing Feature Marble

Over Three Decades of Stone Expertise

At Feature Marble, we have been helping customers enhance their living spaces since 1989. What began as a specialist business importing marbles, granites, slates, and limestones from around the world has evolved into a trusted name in marble and limestone fireplaces.

Over the years we have also gained a reputation for the bespoke nature of our fireplaces. All of our fireplaces are made to order here in Weston-super-Mare, South West of England.

Our long-standing relationships with quarries and suppliers, combined with decades of hands-on experience, allow us to work confidently across a wide range of materials, finishes and styles. This depth of knowledge underpins every project we undertake, whether we are helping create a traditional fireplace for a period property, or a contemporary centrepiece for a modern home.

A Unique, Personal, Design-Led Approach

In addition to offering a standard range of fireplaces, we recognise that off the shelf models don't fit every space perfectly.

Working with your local retailer, our bespoke, made to measure fireplaces are crafted to order and built around customers' individual needs.

Our Design Philosophy

Bespoke Designs for Your Unique Space

At Feature Marble, bespoke isn't an upgrade. It's simply how we work. Every fireplace is an individual project, shaped by the customer's home, taste, and vision.

By working to exact measurements, we ensure:

- Correct proportions for the room
- A balanced relationship between fire, surround and hearth
- A design that enhances, rather than overwhelms

This made-to-measure approach results in a fireplace that feels natural, considered and architecturally appropriate.

Freedom to Choose Materials

Material selection plays a huge role in the character of a fireplace. At Feature Marble, we work with a wide range of natural and engineered stones, including marbles, granites, limestones and slates.

Each material brings its own qualities:

- Marble for elegance and natural veining
- Limestone for softness and understated texture
- Granite for strength and contemporary impact

Finishes can be polished, honed, textured, or tailored to preference, allowing control over how light, colour and texture interact with the room.

Solutions That Work for Modern Living

Our fireplaces are designed to work with a range of fire types which include traditional solid fuel stoves, gas fires, and contemporary electric fires that offer efficiency, ease of use and visual impact, without compromising on aesthetics.

By combining modern fire technology with timeless stone craftsmanship, we create solutions that suit today's lifestyles while remaining future-proof in design.

Complete Control Over Detail

Because everything we do is made to order, customers are never restricted to standard sizes or profiles.

Thickness, depth, edge detail, and overall scale can all be adjusted to suit almost any vision.

- Slim contemporary lines
- Bold architectural profiles
- Timeless traditional mouldings
- Seamless hearth and back panel integrations

We help refine the details that elevate a fireplace from functional to exceptional.
