Black Cardamom

The main reason this spice is so expensive is because it needs to be harvested by hand. It is a very labor-intensive handpicking process. Each cardamom pod must be picked when it is about $\frac{3}{4}$ ripe so time and care are needed to yield this spice.

We source our produce from the farmers in Sikkim, Darjeeling and Meghalaya. Sikkim grows nearly 90% of India's Black Cardamom.

Our farmers grow the produce organically and provide the best quality for the clients.

Cashew

Raw & Processed

The monounsaturated and polyunsaturated fatty acids found in cashews can help decrease LDL cholesterol and triglyceride levels. This reduces the risk of cardiovascular disease, stroke, and heart attack. Cashews are a good source of magnesium, which plays an important role in over 300 enzymatic reactions within the body.

We source our Cashew from the states of Maharashtra, Kerala, Andhra Pradesh, Orissa, Karnataka, Tamil Nadu, Goa and West Bengal.

Grades: W180, W210, W240, W280, W320, W400 and broken cashew pieces.
