

Dear Exhibitors, Buyers, & Supporters,

We hope this letter finds you in good health and high spirits. We are excited for the upcoming 2023 Weber Junior Livestock Show and Auction. The show and auction will be held August 9 - 12th, at the Weber County Fairgrounds. As a valued supporter and buyer, your presence at this event would contribute significantly to the success of our young exhibitors.

The Weber Junior Livestock Show and Auction is a prestigious event that showcases the hard work, dedication, and passion of the youth of Weber County. These determined individuals have spent countless hours meticulously raising and caring for their livestock, honing their skills, and preparing them for this competition. By attending the event, you will not only have the opportunity to witness their achievements but also play a vital role in supporting their dreams.

Over the past year there have been changes made to the program. Since its inception, the Weber County Junior Livestock Show and Auction has been administered and financially supported by Weber County as a government-sponsored program. The County Commission recognizes the importance of this program to the youth in Weber County, however, has decided it is not well-suited to operate as a government-sponsored program. The program would better serve the youth as a non-profit structure similar to others throughout the state.

Based on these recommendations many volunteers have worked hard to create the Weber Junior Livestock Association, Non-Profit Organization. As its own non-profit entity, the Weber Junior Livestock Show and Auction will now be managed through a group of volunteers and funded by the generous donations from the community, like you. The Association will manage the show, auction, and distribution of money from the auction to the youth.

Though this change currently only affects the administrative side of the show and auction, there will be some minor differences at this year's show, but the committee is working hard to make this transition as seamless as possible. The differences will not affect the opportunity for the exhibitors and spectators to enjoy this amazing event.

As a non-profit entity, we rely on the support of sponsors, volunteers, and buyers to help make this program possible for the youth of Weber County. Following the livestock shows, we will hold an exciting auction where you can bid on the animals that have been exhibited. By participating in the auction, you will not only acquire top-quality livestock but also provide financial support to these aspiring youth. Your purchase will empower them to pursue their dreams, fund their education, and continue their involvement in the livestock industry.

Thank you for your continued support of the youth in Weber County and we look forward to seeing you at the shows.

Sincerely,

Weber Junior Livestock Association
