We're all about authenticity, taste, and quality

History:

The year was 2003. Our founder Christian found himself an opportunity from his then-current employer. His employer, a well-known restaurant chain in Sweden, was unsatisfied with his current tortilla supplier. They needed to find a new supplier to deliver high-quality tortillas at a great price.

Our founder Christian did not hesitate to take this entrepreneurial opportunity. He used his knowledge about the country where he was born to find just what the restaurateur was looking for, great tortillas from the land of the taco, Mexico.

Fast forward to today, Casa Magna's product catalog has grown to a lot more than tortillas, expanding from the TexMex food group.

Within our products catalog, you will find all from tortillas to pizza dough, guacamole, coffee, sauces, spices, fresh fruit and vegetables, and much more with customers located in Sweden, Canada, and the US.

Vison:

Locating and delivering products that meet the needs and requirements of our customers.

We mostly operate with producers who will let our customers be in charge of the recipes and packaging to make the final products "tailored" to their specifications.

And if we don't have the product you are looking for under-representation, we will for sure try to locate it for you.

Responsibility:

We care about our products and would never sell anything that we wouldn't serve on our own tables to family and friends.

All our producers and manufacturers are passionate about what they do and follow GMP (Good Manufacturing Processes) and hold necessary ISO-certifications.

All to ensure product quality and safety while knowing our partners are doing right by their workers and our environment.

Tortillas

Great tasting high-quality tortillas from the homeland of the tortilla, Mexico.

Together with our supplier, we offer tortillas in any sizes or any flavor you might like.

Our Tortilla-partner uses the best quality ingredients to make many different flavored tortillas, everything from the classics like; wheat, corn, wheat/corn-mix to maybe a tomato or chipotle flavored ones.

Here you are in charge, how would you like your tortillas?

Tortilla chips

We have a Mexican tortilla chips supplier that creates chips in many different shapes and flavors. How would you like your chips?

We offer you to choose, would you like the chips round or triangular, fried or baked, or with different spices?

Spices could be added after the chip is cooked or be mixed with the masa before cooking. By adding a spice blend to the masa before cooking it, you will lock in the flavor and won't leave your fingers all covered in spices when eating them.

We like to find a product that will fit both your business and your customers.

Therefore, we also offer frozen uncooked tortilla chips ready to serve after just a few seconds in a fryer. This way is both a smart and a tasty solution when looking at cost-effective shipping/distribution. Frozen chips take less space and are easier to pack and transport.

Guacamole

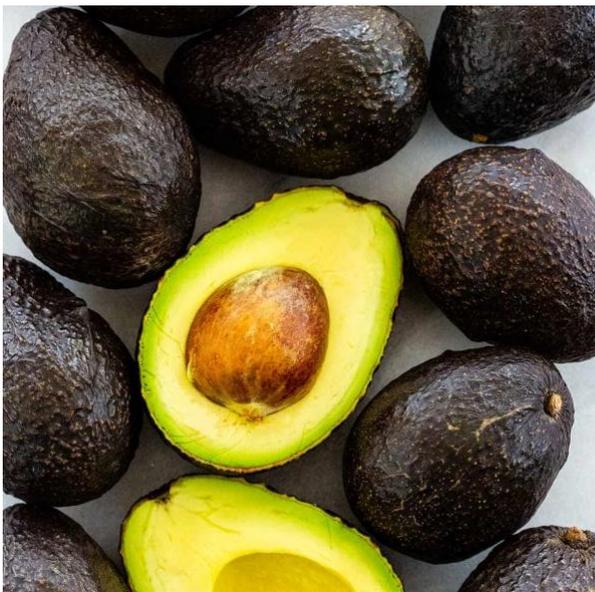

A frozen guacamole that taste like it was freshly made. An authentic great tasting guacamole from the land of the taco.

Our manufacturer is strategically located in the Michoacán area of Mexico. Because the Michoacán area is not only where you'll find the main production of avocados in Mexico but in the world. This gives them an advantage of always having ripe and delicious avocados outside their doorstep.

To be able to keep great flavors and constancy while still giving this product a long-lasting shelf life is really important to our manufacturing partner. Therefore, are they using an HPP, High Pressure Processing, method at packing to preserve and sterilize our guacamole. This helps lock in the authentic taste of guacamole and gives it a shelf life in a freezer for to 12 months or in a fridge for 50days.

We would like to give you the opportunity to change. Our manufacturer has a great recipe today but if you would like to make a change to this recipe to make this product your own that is ok. Maybe more spice or less coriander, maybe no coriander.

Serve it with some crunchy nachos, taco plater or together BBQ.

Frozen avocado

Would you like to mix your Guacamole or other avocado-based products?

We also offer frozen avocado from Mexico. You can get it pulped, sliced, or diced.

Mix pulped with diced avocado to get a chunky Guacamole.

Salsa, hot sauces and condiments

There are many different types of salsas, all from spicy, to chunky or smooth. And we can deliver them all.

Our condiment supplier love salsas and would like to provide you with the product you wish to have. Therefore, can we create salsa as you want them following your own recipes. If you don't have a recipe, we can send you some samples of what we are making today, and then if you like the recipe can be tweaked, to make it your own.

Our supplier has years of experience and uses only quality ingredients. They offer almost all different kinds of packaging and packaging techniques, like for example "Hot Filling".

Hot Filling is a technique where they carefully heat the salsa to 90°C and then pouring it hot into the packaging container. This way will let the salsa keep its taste and nutrients without having to add any preservatives. Keeping the salsas as natural as possible.

Cheddar cheese sauce

Good quality, great-tasting cheddar cheese sauce made in the USA.

For this cheddar cheese sauce, we are partnered up with a well experienced American dairy company. Their goal is to deliver safe, delicious, nutritious, and convenient food for the whole family.

The manufacturer has created a balanced and tasty cheddar cheese sauce ready to be dripped into a taco, poured over a burger, or as a complement to some crunchy nachos/ fries. Can be served both hot and cold.

The product is created with high-quality ingredients and is even certified organic.

Spices

We have a question, how would you like your spices?

We have teamed up with a Mexican supplier of spices who will create spice blends just as you would like them.

By using nothing but the best quality spices and years of experience. Our supplier can help you create your own unique spice blend or replicate an existing product that you already like today.

We know quality spices can be a considerable expense for any restaurant or food manufacturer. We hope to help out by delivering consistent and great tasting products while keeping the price down.

Jalapeños

It can really be a difference between Jalapeños and Jalapeños. Therefore, we had to find a great supplier that delivers good quality tasty Jalapeños.

When we went looking for our Jalapeños the most important thing, we looked for was flavor and authenticity. We wanted to find a supplier that took the best Jalapeños they can find and put them into a simple pickle. A simple pickle would let the Jalapeños keep its good authentic flavors.

After some searching and a lot of sampling, we found exactly what we were looking for.

Our Jalapeños compliment perfectly on a nacho/fries platter, right on top of a burger/pizza, or just eaten on their own.

Our food

We offer full-service with finding, package/ labeling, and shipping food-products. We have customers in both Europe and North America within foodservice, food manufacturing, and retail.

The goal is to help our customers find the right products with a focus on quality, authenticity, and taste.

We connect directly with manufacturers so that you can be in charge of the final result, whether this is related to flavor, consistency, or packaging.

Quality, safety, and environment are important factors when we find our products to export. Therefore, do all our partners holds necessary ISO-certificates and follows GMP.

Packaging

We offer both foodservice packaging and ready for retail packaging with private labels on almost all our products.

Would you like product samples?

Just tell us what products you like to sample, and we will solve it.

On some products, like spices, we do need a recipe to create your sample.
