

Dave Hughes

In May 1956 Dave was employed as a draughtsman for Waygood Otis in London and was promoted in various departments- engineering, purchasing and sales. In 1970, he accepted an offer from Otis to move to the Bournemouth office as a service sales rep. Ann had to look after the family of 4 children in Kent until September by which time they had bought their home in Poole, where mum still lives.

Dave shone as the finest example of Husband, Father, Brother, Uncle and Friend and as Papa to all the grandchildren, he was in a league of his own, layering their lives with goodness and appreciation for everything, no matter how small. In fact, small home-baked scones were his favourite! A lovely man who will be missed beyond words, but never forgotten.

A fond hello and goodbye from Dave's daughter (and former personnel staff at Clapham Road)
