Milly Alcock

Australian actress Milly Alcock who plays the young Princess Rhaenyra Targaryen in Game of Thrones' House of The Dragon, booked a CACI Synergy facial just before the London premiere. For the most anticipated show of the year, Milly requested a lit-from-within glow for the red carpet. CACI's iconic microcurrent system works simultaneously with SPED technology, combining high brilliance LED's and continuous wavelengths to stimulate collagen and cell renewal and heal the skin. Dragon fire not included.
