The following forms are authorized by the Ohio Department of Taxation for use by Ohio taxpayers when making exempt purchases. Other than as noted below the use of a specific form is not mandatory when claiming an exemption. So long as the consumer provides the vendor or seller with all data elements required for a valid exemption certificate, the vendor may accept the certificate and be relieved of the obligation to collect the tax. Note also that exemption certificates may be presented in either paper or electronic form. Paper certificates require, as one of the data elements, a signature from the consumer. No signature is required on electronic certificates. For more information on the proper use of exemption certificates in specific situations, see Rules 5703-9-03, 5703-9-10, 5703-9-14 and 5703-9-25 of the Ohio Administrative Code. hwep.pdf Certificates for Construction Contracts 8. Construction Contract Exemption Certificate. This certificate may be used when making purchases of materials to be incorporated into real property as part of an exempt construction contract. It must be signed by the contractor and/or subcontractor and by the political subdivision or other exempt contractor. The contractor should retain the original of this certificate in the records of the exempt contract and provide copies to any supplies from whom purchases of construction materials are made. A contractor that provides a Construction Contract Exemption Certificate signed by the contractor is protected from liability if it is later determined that the contract did not qualify for exemption. In such a case, the contractor will assume the liability for any unpaid taxes. 9. Contractor's Exemption Certificate. This certificate may be used when making purchases of materials to be incorporated into real property as part of an exempt construction contract. Unlike the Construction Contract Exemption Certificate, it is signed only by the contractor or subcontractor that is making the purchases of materials. Unlike the Construction Contract Exemption Certificate, this certificate protects only the vendor or seller and provides no protection to the contractor on audit.
