

Prophetic Declaration: Seated in Power, Walking in Dominion

I decree and declare that I am a child of the Most High God—born of the Spirit, washed in the Blood, and called from the foundations of the earth. I am not a victim of circumstance; I am a citizen of Heaven, an ambassador of the Kingdom, and I walk in divine alignment with the King of kings.

By the authority of the Word and the unction of the Holy Ghost, I rise today and take my seat in heavenly places in Christ Jesus. I do not beg for position—I was born into it. I do not strive for power—I carry it by inheritance. I do not fear the darkness—I cast it out with the light of the One who lives inside me.

I bind every lie that says I'm less than who God says I am. I tear down every demonic altar erected against my identity. I silence every serpent's whisper and every mocking spirit that tries to unseat me. I declare—I am enthroned with Christ, and from this heavenly place I legislate with power and govern with glory.

I walk in dominion. I speak and mountains move. I declare and angels respond. I prophesy and atmospheres shift. The earth is not my master—it is my assignment. Creation groans for the manifestation of the sons and daughters of God—and I say today: I have manifested!

Hell has been served notice—I am awake. I am anointed. I am aligned. The throne of God backs me, the blood of Jesus covers me, and the roar of the Lion of Judah flows through me. I release fire against every enemy of my purpose. I release breakthrough into every gate that's been barred. I decree open heavens, divine strategy, and supernatural acceleration.

This is my rightful place: seated in victory, ruling in righteousness, walking in supernatural dominion.

And it shall not be otherwise.

In Jesus' mighty, matchless, ruling name—Amen!