Reginald McKiver, also known as Reggie, has been a coach for me, my husband and my businesses, for the last 2 years. During that time he has proven himself to be a patient, understanding & dynamic coach who puts his clients best interest first and foremost.

Treating his clients with great care,, he holds them capable of living their truth while supporting them in expanding to the next level of awakening through inner discovery.

Reggie has over 30 years' experience coaching individuals and leading teams in multiple arenas including the police force, SWAT and multiple corporations.

Reggie comes highly recommended by his clients, colleagues and teammates. In fact, he served as a grounding anchor holding a clear vision for the greater purpose in helping millions of people around the world awaken to their true gifts.

Since he started working with myself, my husband and my businesses the gains in our overall life quality, emotional wellbeing and financial flow has gone up.

I have greatly enjoyed having Reggie as my coach. He teaches with depth, truth, wisdom and with a simple touch of Reggie humour! Results are reflected not only in our business performances but in our everyday attitudes in how we operate on this planet.

Any individual or organizations looking to level up their personal or professional game, Reggie McKiver is the real deal! An honest coach who will call you out when necessary and a coach who encourages you to reach beyond your edge never leaving his clients behind.

It has been an honour to experience Reggie as my coach, my mentor and a dear friend.
