ACID REFLUX or GERD

Heartburn, Acid Reflux and Gerd affect more than 20% of the Worlds population. In the United States alone Americans spend more than $7 billion per year on acid suppressing drugs and over another $ 4 billion on OTC antacids such as Tums.

No matter how clean our diet is, were low on certain nutrients. Just buy looking at your nails, if they are brittle or showing white spots, that's a zinc and magnesium deficiency. Or possibly a vitiamin deficiency that shows up as cracks and fissures on the tounge. Many of us eat well and seem to doing all the right things and yet there still many nutritional deficiencies accuring.

Acid reflux is when acid from the stomach leaks up into the gullet and causes systems such as a burning chest pain know as heartburn. At the entrance to your stomach is a ring of muscle called the lower esophageal sphincter (LOS). Normally this acts as a valve that lets food into the stomach but not back up into the esophagus. When this valve fails, acid produced by your stomach can move up into your esophagus causing symptoms such as heartburn. If this happens more than twice a week on a regular basis, you may have acid feflux disease, which is known as gastro-esophageal reflux dsease (GERD or GORD).
