Why do you need a skin booster?

In this ever-evolving digital world, our standards of beauty have changed. There's a focus on always looking immaculate, youthful and flawless. At the same time, our busy, and often stressful, everyday lives diminish the vibrancy of the skin, making it appear tired and dull, causing it to prematurely age.

We all want to take care of our skin but don't always make the time. More and more people want a natural appearance, a way to boost their skin's smoothness, firmness and hydration, so they look and feel their best.

The good news is, we've something to help.

BELOTERO REVIVE helps target the early signs of sun damage, which include:

- Dehydrated skin
- Loss of elasticity and firmness
- Presence of superficial fine lines
- Redness and roughness

Why does skin age?

The skin ageing process is a complex one, caused by both internal and external factors (intrinsic and extrinsic). Intrinsic ageing relates to ageing determined by our genetic heritage. As we age, the production of our natural skin moisturiser (hyaluronic acid) diminishes, reducing its elasticity and youthful glow.

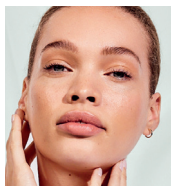

Extrinsic ageing relates to the way we live our lives. Factors such as smoking, stress and poor diet can all accelerate skin ageing but the main environmental factor that ages our skin is ultraviolet (UV) radiation from the sun. In fact, studies have shown that an estimated 80-90% of skin ageing is due to sun exposure. Despite being aware of the importance of applying sun cream every day, we know it's easy to forget, leaving our face, neck and hands unprotected.

How does BELOTERO REVIVE work?

Unlike a cream, BELOTERO REVIVE is injected into the skin where it can provide direct hydration, thanks to the hyaluronic acid and glycerol it contains. Together these moisture-attracting ingredients help revitalise sun damaged skin by improving hydration, elasticity and firmness, smoothing superficial fine lines and reducing skin roughness, for a more radiant look. And what's more, it does all this without drastic volume changes, keeping you looking fresh and glowing for up to 36 weeks (based on a regimen of 3 injection sessions).

BELOTERO REVIVE can be injected over multiple treatments (one to three sessions, depending on your needs), giving you a youthful glow from the inside out. If the treatment is being performed over multiple sessions, a gap of four weeks should be left between each injection session.

...Your next steps

Prevention and early intervention is key. Take the next steps to developing your individual treatment plan today.

- 1 Find a registered aesthetics practitioner you can trust
It's essential you trust and have a good relationship with your practitioner, ensuring they understand you and your aesthetic concerns.
- 2 Attend your consultation
Be sure to tell your aesthetics practitioner of any allergies you have or medication you are taking.
- 3 Create a unique treatment plan based on your skin's needs
Take time to understand what treatments are being offered and feel free to ask questions to ensure it is the right plan for you.
- 4 Have the treatment
Treatments typically last less than one hour, and you can return to your day immediately after treatment, but we recommend first resting a little.
- 5 Book your follow up appointment
No dedicated recovery time is needed, but avoid direct sun, sauna visits and intensive sport sessions. It is always good to have a follow-up appointment booked in before you leave to assess your treatment outcomes.
- 6 Feel confident in your revived skin
