

Defying Gravity

From The Director

For us, defying gravity means having the courage to try something new. It means showing up week after week to celebrate our progress with our friends and teachers, and it means doing our very best every day, pushing aside anything that holds us back. Defying gravity is not just a song lyric; it is a commitment to excellence we learn in dance class and bring with us through the rest of our lives.

As you watch our dancers perform today, know how proud the teachers and I are, not only of what you will see on stage, but of the process our students have committed to since September. We have seen their confidence grow; we have seen them help their friends; we have seen them try new skills over and over until they get them right.

For all these reasons and many more, our dancers defy gravity each time they enter the studio or walk onto the stage.

We are so excited to share our love of dance with you. Thank you for being with us today and all season.

Enjoy the show!

Graduating Seniors

Fallon Bartolotta

Fallon has been dancing since she was 12 years old and has been at Still Dancing for 4 years. She plans to continue dancing after she graduates and eventually go to college for filmmaking. She would like to thank all of the teachers at Still Dancing for being so supportive, especially Ms. Cara, Ms. Renee, and Ms. Maddie.

Marissa Valvo

Marissa has been dancing for fifteen years, competitively for eleven, and at Still Dancing for six. Over those years, she has performed in every style, but her favorites include ballet, lyrical and acro. Marissa was given the opportunity to become certified in Acrobatic Arts this year and teaches two classes, and she would like to thank Ms. Ally and Ms. Renee for making it all possible. She has loved her time competing, but even more, Marissa has cherished assisting dozens of classes, birthday parties and helping at kid's nights. She loves each and every little dancer and can't wait to see them develop over the years. Marissa would like to extend gratitude to so many people, starting with all of the incredible teachers who dedicate their time and energy to creating such an amazing studio experience and show for every dancer. She would like to thank Izzy and Maddie for being amazing role models and friends since her very first day at the studio, Ms. Cara for choreographing her amazing solos and for being an incredible role model, and of course Ms. Ally for creating Marissa's amazing dances and solos for so many years and for absolutely everything she does for her dancers year round. This studio would not be the same without you. Marissa would like to thank all of her dance friends, especially her fellow senior and amazing friend Johanna, for sharing the stage with her and creating so many amazing memories over the years. Lastly, Marissa would like to her entire family for all of their support these past fifteen years, but especially Pama and Aunt Vickey for traveling to every single recital, and Dad and Nick for tuning in to the livestream at every competition. Most of all, she would like to thank her Mom for dealing with competition attitudes, travel, early mornings and late nights, and all the rhinestones, feathers and tights in between. In the fall, Marissa will be attending St. Bonaventure University to study biology on a pre-med track.

Johanna Kull

Johanna Kull is a senior and has been dancing since she was 4, but 5 years here at Still Dancing. She would like to give a big thank you to her dance teachers for always supporting her and helping her grow, her dance friends Kate, Cate, Marissa and Grace for always making her laugh, and most importantly her parents for always showing up for her. Without these people she would not be the dancer she is today. She plans to move abroad to Sweden to study biomedicine and continue dancing outside of school.
