Time for some Fun in 2021!

Although our Museum's doors are still closed to the public because of Covid-19, your Board of Directors has been busy this past year! We've been overseeing necessary Museum repairs and updates, accepting and cataloging donations of local artifacts, creating new exhibits, and posting photos/stories on PickHistory.org and Facebook.

We still are unsure when life will return to normal and we can safely reopen our Museum. However, some of our tentative plans include:

- Summer Outdoor Museum Yard Sale
- Summer Members' Outdoor Picnic
- September Founders' Day Event
- October Haunted Museum
- Christmas Potluck/Society Annual Membership Meeting & Election
- December Holiday Gathering

We'll continue to keep you posted on 2021 news and event details via email, newsletters, our website, and Facebook.

Pickerington-Violet Twp Historical Society

What to see when our Museum opens in 2021

We can't wait until COVID-19 is under control so we can, once again, welcome your safe visit to our freshly cleaned and sanitized Museum. You'll be able to see and enjoy new collections of vintage treasures donated by Pickerington-Violet Township families.

New offerings include old-time music generated by Howard Milnor's player piano and Cleo Richter's newly repaired melodeon organ. Visitors also can enjoy seeing recently acquired items from the late 1800's Kraner General Store; and Dorothy Harmon Taylor's 1924 framed graduation certificate. A new large wooden display case donated by the Good Family will showcase new donations from the children of the late Lloyd and Agnes Creager Stemen.

These donations from David Stemen and his sister, Diana Stemen Auten, include their mother's 1952 bridal gown and a 12-piece place setting of Royal Stone China Wedgewood's popular 1800's "Tea Leaf" pattern with serving pieces, pictured here →

We'll keep you informed as to when our Museum will re-open in 2021 so you can make plans to see all of the wonderful new artifacts and exhibits. In the meantime, when the weather is sunny, pick up a "Self-Guided Walking Tour" from the brochure box outside our Museum and enjoy a nostalgic stroll through historic Olde Pickerington Village.

← The mid-1800's cast-iron pot belly stove that once heated the one-room Peru School was carefully moved by professional movers from our Museum's Main Level to its new home with other school exhibits in the Lower Level.

The original Peru School still stands on private property at the NW corner of Stemen Road and Huntington Hills Way. It remains one of just a few of the 19 one-room schools that once existed in Violet Township.

AROUND OUR MUSEUM

Thank you for your support of Local History!

Despite the hardships created by COVID-19 during 2020, Pickerington-Violet Township Historical Society members and friends continued their spirit of generosity during the year. Fairfield County Foundation’s December 31-Hour Give and its matching funds plus year-end/holiday donations resulted in gifts to our Historical Society that totaled $2,400. These generous donations will allow our Historical Society to work on the huge undertaking of digitizing our collection of framed 1909-1981 Pickerington High School graduation photos along with purchasing a panel display rack for the photos. A very sincere thank you to the following donors:

Happy Easter!
 ← This Easter Greetings postcard bears a March 31, 1911 postmark. It was mailed to “Mr. Phil Mason, Pickerington Ohio” with a short unsigned note: “Will be home Saturday”. The recipient was the owner of Mason’s Meat Market in downtown Pickerington. It’s part of a vintage postcard collection in our Museum.

Fairfield County Park District Renewal Levy Election: May 4, 2021

You are encouraged to get out and vote on May 4. This is only a .04 mill Renewal Levy (no new taxes). We’ve enjoyed seeing the development of Fairfield County Parks these past 10 years and appreciate the efforts made toward historical preservation. Fairfield County parks include Rock Mill, Smeck Farm, Lockville Canal Park, Zeller Park and a dozen or so more!

Do You Remember Ohio’s Sales Tax Stamps?

Use of sales tax stamps began in depression-era 1935, after Ohio’s General Assembly and Governor passed December 1934 legislation to generate more state revenue. Businesses had to buy the stamps — ranging from 1¢ to $15 — from the state, only getting their money back when they sold merchandise and collected the sales tax from customers. To simplify the sales tax stamp process for retailers, NCR of Dayton invented a sales tax stamp dispenser (shown in photo at left). This gadget enabled sales clerks to easily tear off the proper amount of stamps for a customer while leaving the retailer’s stub firmly fastened under the dispenser’s flanges. Initially, the sales tax and stamps were to be in place for only one year. However, they lasted until 1961 when sales taxes continued but without the stamps. This dispenser at left and more stamps can be seen at our Historical Museum. By the way, a similar dispenser recently sold on EBay for $199.

LOCAL HISTORY

20th Century Hot Spots for Dining Out in Olde Pickerington

The sign on the wall shows steak dinners were 40¢, meatloaf dinners 35¢. The candy counter features Dum Dum suckers, Clark bars, and Beach Nut, Spear-mint, and Juicy Fruit Gum.

↑ Walter ("Butch") and Wilma Moore owned and operated Moore's Restaurant at 14 E. Columbus Street from 1942 to 1956. The main level restaurant featured pies baked by Peggy Beglin — standing behind the bar in the photo at left. Wilma Moore made customers' other favorites: potato salad, baked beans, and homemade soups. A pool room was located in the basement of the building.

Shortly after they closed this restaurant, Butch and Wilma opened another restaurant/pool and card room next door at 18 E. Columbus Street. The Moores retired from the restaurant business in 1983.

Wilma's cook stove and hundreds of photos that once graced the restaurants' walls are now featured in the Lower Level of our Historical Society's Museum.

↑ Dot's Diner at 46 E. Columbus Street in 1988. The building now houses Olde Village Diner.

REMEMBERING 1961

I loved the Holiday edition of our Society's newsletter. It made me think about the 1961 town gathering in the multi-purpose room of the only elementary school in Pickerington. I was 6 years old and nervously excited about receiving a vaccine that would keep us safe from horrible polio. There were long lines before entering the school, so we had lots of time to catch up with neighbors not regularly seen. Everyone knew everyone in those days. I don't have a picture of this polio vaccination occasion, but maybe someone else does?

—Nancy Fisher Groves, PVTSH member from Gilbert, Arizona

Our sympathies to his wife, Margie, her son David, and Diley's three children: Kevin, Karin King, and Kathy Gastaldo.
