AUTHOR LIFE...

For me, autumn means full-on kids' hockey season is underway. I'm pumped. My kid is pumped. And my coffee and laptop are ready for 6 am practice in East Rinkwater. Hockey swaps are where it's at, too. I'll be trading in my Bantam son's old knee pads because he sprouted another two inches. And my tiny peanut of a nearly-4-year-old niece is hitting the ice for the first time. Tiny helmet, adorable hockey skates, and a milk crate to push around until her knees stop bowing. Someday it's likely she'll check my son into the boards. I'm so pumped for hockey season!
