

Who is DIYDG?

Deadly Inspiring Youth Doing Good (DIYDG) is a youth-led, non-profit organisation. We are powered by volunteers and donations.

DIYDG impacts young people by creating safe spaces, providing a platform for a youth voice and inspiring, equipping and empowering the next generation to take action to change their world.

Our Aim

Young people need to feel that their world is a safe place where; people care about their wellbeing, feel respected and supported, and are empowered to get through life's challenges.

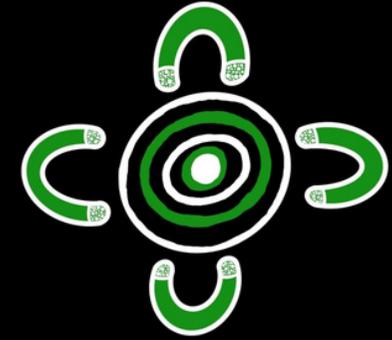

We know when these needs are met that we develop a sense of identity and belonging and know our place in the world. We aim to create strong connections to build each young person's sense of worthiness.

NO SHAME IN MY GAME

Empowering Youth Voices

No Shame In My Game (NSIMG) is an innovative music program that encourages and guides young people to explore the joys of music. The program uses Narrative Therapy practices to support healing and self-expression through music for young people impacted by trauma, entrenched in the criminal justice system, or have a diagnosed disability with a passion for music. NSIMG offers a safe and supportive space for young people to express themselves, process their experiences and tell their stories through narrative songwriting. The program is driven by vocal improvisation, allowing young people to freely express themselves and connect with their emotions. NSIMG was founded by Simone Stacey, an artist and youth coordinator, who created the program to give young people a chance to find solace and healing through music, using it as a medium for empowerment and transformation.

Simone Stacey, Facilitator

Simone Stacey is the facilitator and creator of the "No Shame in My Game" which provides a culturally safe space for clients to express their trauma through storytelling and songwriting. Born in Bowen, Queensland, and raised in the Whitsundays, Simone's cultural roots are of Aboriginal, Torres Strait Islander, and Vanuatuan descent. Her intergenerational history has been shaped by the impacts of colonialism and the black birding era.

Simone's desire to share her story and inspire others led her to create the "No Shame in My Game and work in social work to address the gaps within Australia's broken system for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander families and young people. As a First Nations woman, Simone is determined to be a part of the healing and restoration journey for her people and the next generation to come.
