Legacy With Color

Dear LWC Members,

As we focus this week on the color green and the sciences, it should be noted that it is the second most popular color (we'll get to the most popular color very soon.) Today, we associate the color with being environmentally conscious by "being green." The color is a symbol of sustainability and eco-friendliness. In psychology, green personality types tends to be analytical, calm, logical, along with having a great thirst for knowledge. Other common associations with the color green are money, luck, health, and envy. Did you know there is no green pigment in green eyes, like the color of blue eyes? It is an optical illusion. And as we weather the grayness and coldness of November, I remind you that green brings with it the hope and joy of the upcoming spring.

Wishing you all a wealth of luck in the week to come.

Julie

Club Purpose

"The purpose of the corporation shall be the study and improvement of its members in Literature, the Sciences, and Fine Arts."

Constitution Article III

"Securing the future of Lansing Woman's Club is in our hands. We invite open minded and intellectually curious women to join us in our commitment to life-long learning. Keeping pace with our multicultural world compels us to intentionally include women who reflect the diverse community in which we live."

Club News

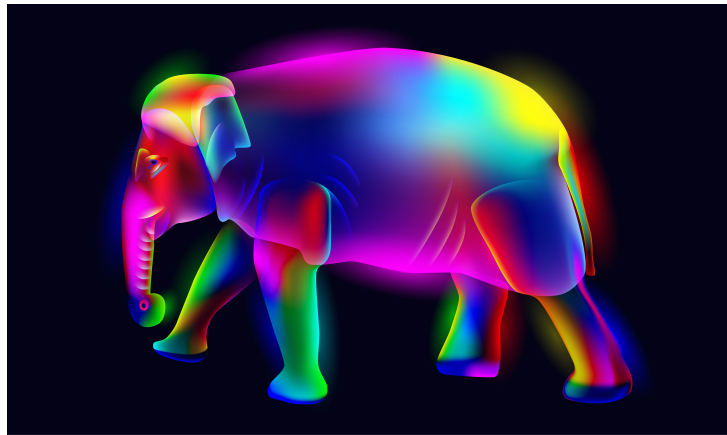

- A huge thank you Phyllis Grummon for sharing with us the intricacies of emotions, especially the emotion of fear. It was a mesmerizing paper.
- Please see the announcement in this newsletter regarding our December 1 meeting. This is going to be a fabulous and delectable event!
- Though I have been sending a general “Happy Birthday” greeting to members each week at the end of the newsletter, I do want to deviate this week to let you know that today is Kay Trosko’s birthday. She is out of the hospital and resting at home. I’m sure she would appreciate a belated birthday card.

This GLOWING elephant is hoping you’ll join her at an AFTERGLOW this Friday (11/10) celebrating Julie Reinke’s paper, Elephants: Nothing Matters More Than Family, at:

As she speaks to LWC on

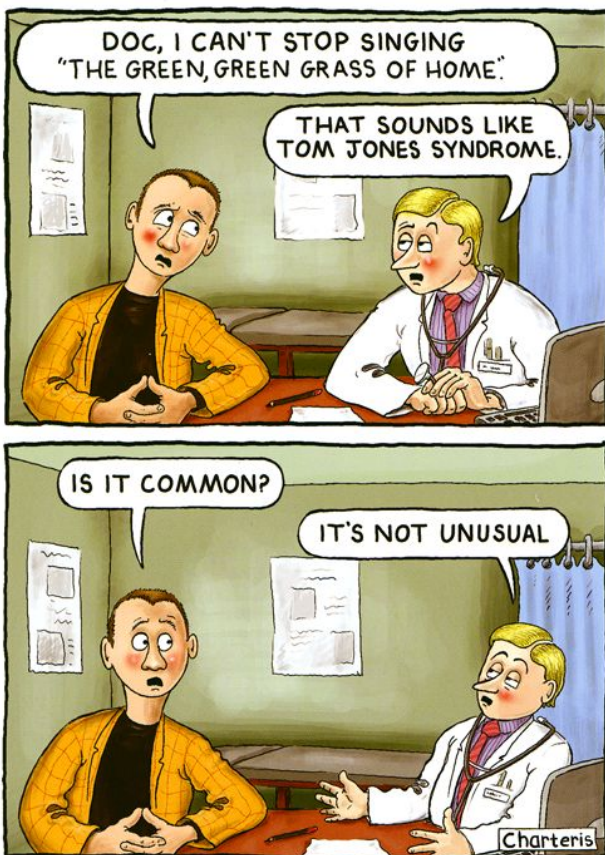

“The Long Story of Italian Cuisine”

Friday, December 1

Giovanna will describe Etruscan, Greek, and Arab influences on Italian cooking. She will demonstrate how to make pesto, talk about Tiramisu, and will have copies of her recipes available to us.

Please join other LWC members for this special event. Feel free to bring a guest and since our feature color for December is indigo, please dress comfortably by wearing your indigo colored jeans. The meeting will begin at 1:30 pm.
