Legacy With Color

Dear LWC Members,

Halloween is just around the corner! My house abounds with the color orange at this time of year. When my son was born 38 years ago, I started a tradition of buying one ceramic pumpkin every year and noting on the bottom of the pumpkin the year it was purchased. As you can see, 38 years later my mantle (and the rest of my house) is alive with the color orange and the theme of Halloween. My three kids love exploring the pumpkins to see which one was bought the year they were born, or the year they graduated from high school or college. It's been a wonderful tradition for our family.

I hope to see you at our Field Trip to Potter Park Zoo on Friday at 1:30. Details can be found on the next page of this newsletter.

With a "zest" for learning about the color orange,

Julie

Club Purpose

“The purpose of the corporation shall be the study and improvement of its members in Literature, the Sciences, and Fine Arts.”

Constitution Article III

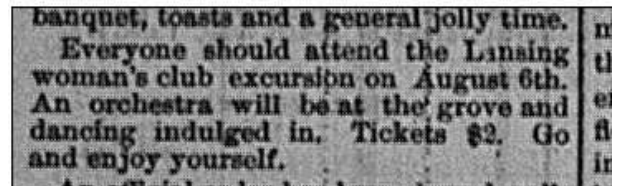

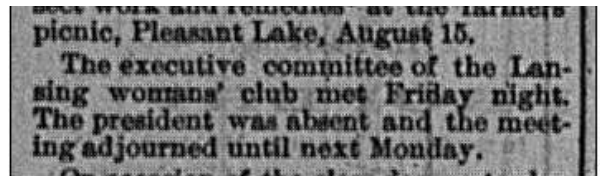

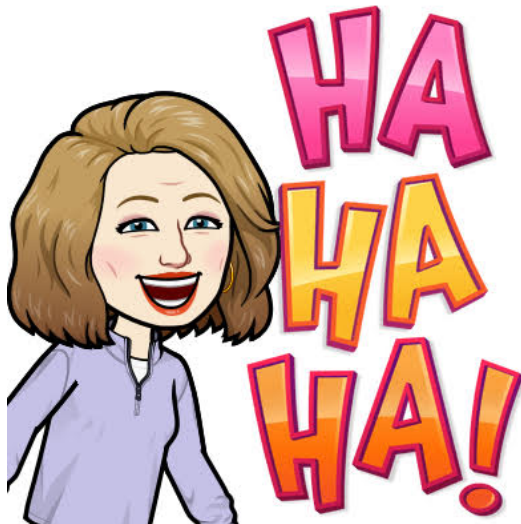

“Securing the future of Lansing Woman's Club is in our hands. We invite open minded and intellectually curious women to join us in our commitment to life-long learning. Keeping pace with our multicultural world compels us to intentionally include women who reflect the diverse community in which we live.”

Club Business

- Please note that you can now access the LWC Webpage through the weekly newsletter. Just click the link at the top of the newsletter.
- The Potter Park Field Trip is this Friday at 1:30 pm. Cathy Claypool will speak to us about the history of the zoo and a zoo staff member will talk to us about working with endangered species. The cost is $15 which includes parking. LWC members will be available to help you get from the parking lot to the Safari Room if you have mobility issues. The pathways at the zoo have been repaved making for safe walking. Several tour lengths are being offered. The gift shop will be open and snacks will be available- organized by our tea committee.
- Kay Trosko is in stable condition at Sparrow Hospital, after her heart attack and insertion of a stint. This is not a time for visitors or calls. Her husband will let us know via email when there is a change. He is grateful for her dear friends.
- Emergency contact cards are being collected from members. There is a turquoise index card box on the wooden desk in the front of the main room. There are blank index cards in this box for your use. Please note your name, an emergency contact and a member of club who could be contacted if more information should be needed.
- Please extend a warm welcome to the Scott Club members that will be traveling from South Haven to visit us on Friday, November 3.

Further thoughts on the color orange:

Who doesn't remember Fred Flintstone? Fred always wore an orange and black-spotted loincloth with a torn hem accented with a blue necktie. The Flintstones were one of the most watched cartoons worldwide. What did our orange-clad friend teach us?

A short temper is never a solution to anything.

Amend your mistakes.

Make yourself memorable.

Refusing complacency is okay.

Good friends are the greatest treasure.
