

Stormwater retrofit concept, with sketch showing a meandering "stormwater stream." This feature, accepting runoff from a parking lot and other impervious areas, would infiltrate and slow water as well as create visual amenity at this environmentally sensitive site, perched on bluffs above the Mississippi.