WILD ABOUT

Let's make this a season to remember for Texas foster children. Most foster children live with foster parents who are of modest means. There is often no additional money available for holiday gifts. Imagine being a child that lives in a foster home because your own home was filled with physical or emotional abuse. Imagine feeling all alone while others around you are taking part in holiday traditions.

When a child is removed from their family, they are changed forever. Each day, these children deal with hardships most cannot begin to imagine. Every positive experience provides an opportunity to feel valued and secure. Every act of kindness lets them know that someone cares, and that they deserve to be cared for. Consider supporting Wild about SAFY and opening your heart to a foster child this holiday season.
