

IPL Hair Removal FAQs

Am I suitable for IPL Hair Removal treatments?

Males typically have thicker, coarser hair, which is ideal for IPL Hair Removal. IPL responds well to dark, coarse hair, as well as some lighter pigmented hair types.

How many treatments do I need?

Typically 6-10 treatments are required to deliver permanent results. The amount of treatments necessary and how long you will have to wait between sessions depends on your hair and skin type, as well as the area of your body being treated. You will get a better idea of what to expect during your personalised consultation.

What does it feel like?

The sensation felt during IPL Hair Removal is often described as very warm and like a rubber band flicking against your skin. Your IPL therapist will always work to ensure maximum comfort during your treatment, and guide you through the treatment process from start to finish.

What treatments are available for intimate areas?

The male speedo line, XX speedo and 'Manzilian' (male Brazilian) are all popular intimate area treatments. Your therapist can also customise the treatment area to your preference to include the shaft and base of the penis, testicles, and the entire perianal area through to the buttocks.

Is it safe?

Treatments are safe, however not recommended for men while trying to conceive, as sperm present during treatment may not be as active. Sperm created after a completed treatment course remains unaffected.

What can I expect during an intimate area treatment?

Your therapist will ask you to assist in adjusting intimate areas during treatment, so the treatment area can be clearly accessed. You will also be advised to avoid tight underwear and vigorous exercise on your treatment day.

What are the benefits?

Along with the aesthetic advantages of hair-free intimate areas, many men report increased comfort and reduced chafing during exercise and physical activity. It's also great for eradicating the discomfort, hassle and unsightliness of ingrown hairs that may result from shaving or waxing.

Thinking about IPL Permanent Hair Removal?

You're not alone. Hair reduction services for males are on the rise, with more and more men opting for permanent solutions when removing their unwanted hair. Thanks to IPL technology, men of all ages are now enjoying the benefits of smooth, hair-free skin on their body areas of choice. IPL Hair Removal sessions are fast, convenient, and offer long-term results, making it a more affordable solution when compared to the ongoing cost, hassle and maintenance of waxing, shaving and tweezing.

Why more men are going hair-free

The reasons men are turning to permanent hair reduction vary, but they include:

Attractiveness and confidence

Whether it's an over-abundance of chest hair, back hair or an embarrassing 'unibrow', many men have one or more areas of their body where they'd like hair removed. Smooth, hair-free skin can increase a man's confidence and sense of attractiveness, and IPL Hair Removal is perfect for this as long-lasting or permanent results can often be achieved with just a handful of sessions.

Work and career

Sometimes unwanted hair can get in the way of work performance, which is why permanent hair reduction is also popular amongst athletes, bodybuilders, entertainers, sportsmen and actors.

Hygiene and comfort

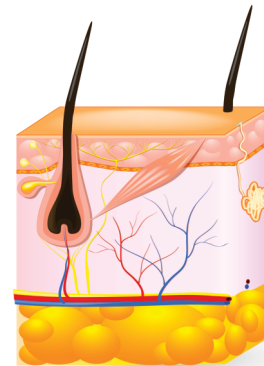

Excess body hair can be painful, especially during hot and humid weather. Sweating can aggravate the hair follicles which leads to chafing, rashes and itching. Many men simply prefer to remove body hair altogether in problem areas to feel more comfortable, improve hygiene, and reduce skin irritation.
