Winter Thoughts

According to the Met Office, the official start date of the Winter season this year will be on Friday 22nd December. By that time, many of us will already have our homes filled with the usual festive treats and decorations in preparation for the Christmas celebrations. Each household will differ in their traditions to those of their neighbour, whether it be a favourite tree decoration, a food dish that is on the table each year or an annual gathering they will attend without fail. With that being said, it's easy to then wonder how Christmas is celebrated throughout the world. For many countries the main day is on the 24th with fish as the main feast for our Nordic friends. Presents from Santa are left on the doorstep with a knock on the door for those in the Southern hemisphere and for others it's business as usual, keeping the doors open for the last minute dash to buy batteries for the fairy lights or the all important gravy granules, so as to avoid gravy gate.

It is important to remember those that may struggle during this period. Many are without their basic needs and comforts and some have been displaced, missing loved ones.

If you or someone you know is finding the festive period difficult to manage, then we urge you to seek the help you deserve. The links to the right will take you straight to the contact pages of the respective charities websites.

From everyone at Invitari Ltd, we wish you and your families a very Merry Christmas and a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

Norah Jones - December

An enchanting, piece of music without a sleighbell jingle or 'Ho, Ho, Ho to be heard, 'December' by Norah Jones is not a Christmas song but instead gives us the opportunity to slow down as the world around us gets into a frenzy in the run up to Christmas Day.

The original meaning behind the song is unclear and we are left to reimagine the wintery cold nights of the festive month.

Whether you choose for it to be a about a loved one or all about the magic that December brings, all avenues seem to end up leading to an overwhelming feeling of calm and peace, a wish that has been longed for around the world by all of humanity.

IMMUNE BOOSTING 'SUPERFOODS'

The humble brussel sprouts. like marmite, you either love them or hate them but regardless of your personal preference, it is almost a guarantee that you will see them at some point as an offering on your festive plate.

But did you know that these little green 'toot' sweets are packed with essentials such as folic acid, potassium, fibre and Vitamin C which are vital for keeping your immune system working as it should.

Before you reject these emerald beauties again, why not try out one of the delicious recipe suggestions in the link, such as, them with a cheesy sauce or a honey and balsamic glaze.

Important Notice

As we come to the end of one year, we begin to look to the next and in doing so, we have kept important notices that were first announced in last month's newsletter which will be ever relevant for 2024.

Please take the time to read details on the company's Terms and Conditions and information on appointment times.

WE ARE HIRING!!!

Invitari Ltd is looking for enthusiastic and dedicated people to join the team.

Skills related to gutter repairs/maintenance and window cleaning are preferable, however all training will be given to successful candidates.

For more information and details of how to apply, visit invitari.co.uk

Did you know?

Two inches of rain in a day can send over 1,000 gallons of water down from your rooftops into your gutters. That is a lot of water for one house to cope with.

Urgent Notice!

Our Terms and Conditions will soon be changing so please do read the T's & C's thoroughly when accepting future quotations so you are fully up to date with how Invitari Ltd support our customers.

Appointments

Most of the calls we get on a daily basis is through word of mouth. This is due to the many happy customers we have served over the years who have referred our services to friends, families and strangers that have asked for trusted traders.

It is because of this that Invitari Ltd is often booked up to 6 months in advance which means that if our team are turned away on the day of your booking, it can often be difficult to find a convenient day to reschedule. We understand that sometimes it will be necessary to reschedule and therefore we will do our best to meet your needs. Please see our full list of Terms and Conditions for cancellations and rebooking, available on the Invitari Ltd website (link below)
