DPOA PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Mr. Roger's Neighborhood

I must confess that I took a turn in the bouncy house before the start of our annual Ice Cream Social on July 22 and it was exhilarating! Tapping into your inner child is invigorating and calming at the same time. It's no wonder that Diablo's traditional Ice Cream Social is such a popular event. Thanks to DPOA Directors Ruhi Alikhan and Terri Davis for doing an outstanding job in organizing another fun neighborhood social.

If you haven't already, you should take a break from summer blockbusters and action movies and catch the Morgan Neville documentary, "Won't You Be My Neighbor?" You won't be disappointed! Given the divisive nature of current politics, both nationally and locally, Fred Rogers' messages of love, inclusion and civility seem even more relevant today than ever. The idea that "won't you be my neighbor" was an invitation, not a declaration, resonates loudly. We are lucky to have many great neighbors in Diablo.

One shining example of a great neighbor is our 2017 Diablo Citizen of the Year, Dana Pingatore. Congratulations to Dana! She has been the backbone of the DPOA and community for years and continues to work tirelessly behind the scenes. We are sincerely grateful for all the long hours Dana contributes to Diablo and the DPOA's many projects including communications, beautification, organization of events and much more.

We also welcome our great neighbor Leslie Keane to the DPOA Board. Leslie has already made a big impact on the community by spearheading the wonderfully successful Historic Committee Stroll through some of Diablo's historic homes. Leslie has also been responsible for the beautiful displays at the entrances that everyone has enjoyed.

In addition, I would personally like to thank the members of the DCSD Board who volunteer to oversee our security services and maintenance of Diablo's culverts, bridges and roads. I hope you will join me in supporting their efforts, regardless of your point of view. These great neighbors have been thrust in the front lines of some contentious debate and have displayed remarkable patience and tolerance in their commitment to resolve the current issues for the benefit of the community.

There is still plenty to be done in and around Diablo. Little things make good neighbors as well. Please respect traffic laws, slow down and come to a complete stop at all stop signs. Also, we have a strong need for more volunteers. There are so many projects, small or large, that you might be able to help with during the coming year. If you'd like to be a good neighbor and make a difference, please come to our next DPOA meeting on Tuesday, August 7th at 7:30 pm in the Diablo Room at Diablo Country Club.

The flags of Diablo were out in force over the July 4th holiday and looked great. Thanks again to Jeff Mini and all of the loyal volunteers who continue to show Diablo's patriotism and honor our country. The flag donations have been so appreciated and highly successful in funding DPOA events and activities. Expect another opportunity to donate and receive your own flag kit with our 2019 membership drive.

Looking forward, our next big event will be on Halloween. Thanks to everyone who has made that tradition so memorable. Again, we welcome your feedback and participation. Also, please help us welcome new residents that you meet and encourage them to join the DPOA.

*Happy Summer,
Don Nejedly*

Litigation Update

As many of you know, the Diablo Community Services District (DCSD) was named as a defendant in a lawsuit filed in December 2017 by seven residents of Calle Arroyo seeking a judgment from Contra Costa Superior Court that Calle Arroyo is a strictly private street that is not subject to a public right-of-way. They also seek a judgment declaring that DCSD has an obligation to preclude non-residents from using Calle Arroyo.

In a response, DCSD filed a motion stating that the Plaintiffs improperly brought an action for declaratory relief and also asked the Court for a ruling that, even if Plaintiffs were to prevail on their claims that Calle Arroyo is strictly private with no public right of way, DCSD has no obligation to preclude non-residents from using the street. On July 20, the Court issued a ruling on the motion. The judge stated that Plaintiffs could bring an action for declaratory relief; however, the judge invited DCSD to file another motion requesting the Court to confirm that DCSD's limited power granted by its Formation Documents and state law does not authorize DCSD to preclude non-residents from using Calle Arroyo. The judge set the next case management conference for December 14, 2018.

Town Hall Meeting on Ordinance Code

One of the DCSD's obligations is to adopt and maintain Ordinance Code that determines how the authorities granted by the state in our Formation Documents will be carried out and enforced. For DCSD, these services are limited to security and maintenance of roads, bridges, and culverts. Our existing Ordinance Code was adopted 25 years ago in 1993. Since that time there have been changes in state law and fee structures, obsolescence of some provisions, as well as culture and technology changes that impact enforcement. Therefore, the DCSD Board initiated a project to review and amend the 1993 Ordinance Code.

On Tuesday, July 24, the DCSD Board held a Town Hall to discuss a new draft of the Code. The meeting opened with Director Kathy Torru presenting the History of the DCSD Formation and the Role of and Procedures for Adopting Ordinance Code. Following this, Director Dave Watson moderated questions and comments from residents related to the new draft, available along with the old on our website (www.diablocsd.org). Discussion centered around Diablo's Formation Document, which basically defines our streets as private with a public right-of-way, and its varying interpretations. Questions and comments were often-times lively and passionate in nature. When the meeting adjourned, the Board had many suggestions/recommendations and questions to ponder. Directors Torru and Urbelis, who head up this project, will assess the community's significant input between now and when the Board meets again on August 14, where they will present a status report and a plan for moving forward.

Vegetation Encroachment: Reminder

In late spring of every year, Diablo residents are asked to make sure their vegetation is not encroaching on our streets. Given our narrow, and in some spots, winding roads, residents need to be diligent about keeping our paved roadways clear. Our lighter rainfall this past winter coupled with our hotter spring has made vegetation creep less of a problem, but please walk your street boundaries to make sure. If you have questions, contact Sheila Langon, Roads Commissioner, at slangon@diablocsd.org.

MAGEE RANCHES UPDATE

Dear Neighbors,

This will update you on Davidon Homes' proposed 69+ unit "Magee Ranches" project for the Diablo Road corridor.

The project: Sixty-six of the homes (plus a minimum of 7 attached second residential units) would be built on land designated for Agricultural Open Space use and accessed from Blackhawk Road ¼ mile east of Mt. Diablo Scenic Blvd., next to Jillian Court. Incredibly, to circumvent a required Ballot Measure S public vote before any such Open Space land may be changed to residential use, the Danville Town Council claims that the 35+ acres to be covered by 66+ homes, infrastructure, and a 5-acre holding pond for floodwaters will remain in "Agricultural use". The other three homes would be built on McCauley Road across from the Green Valley School parking lot.

Background: The project's many environmental impacts---nearly 1000 more cartrips per day, worsening existing congestion and threatening the many tens of thousands of bicyclists riding substandard Diablo Road every year; flooding and erosion in the East Branch of Green Valley Creek that flows through Diablo; potential eradication of a thriving population of endangered CA red-legged frogs---caused hundreds of local residents to actively op-

THE RED HORSE APARTMENTS

by David Mackesey & the Historic Preservation Committee

The Red Horse Apartments at 111 El Centro originated as The Carriage Barn on the Cook Ranch. Built in 1885, it housed the prized pacers and trotters of Seth Cook. The barn was originally constructed at the northwest corner of Alameda Diablo and El Nido (1963 Alameda Diablo) now the location of the home of Kelly and Tiffani Trevethan.

In 1917, Mt. Diablo Park Club founder Robert Noble Burgess decided to repurpose the Carriage Barn. It was moved in one piece by rolling it on logs to the corner of Avenida Nueva and El Centro. Burgess hired acclaimed architect, Arthur Benton, to design a new facade and interior for the building. He named it The Red Horse Tavern. It was comprised of a tavern, a few studio apartments for single employees of the country club, and hotel rooms for travelers. Its location was chosen to be a convenient stop-over for those who motor toured on the newly paved road to the summit of Mt. Diablo. Plays were sometimes presented there, and the tavern was the entertainment center of Diablo for a number of years.

In 1948, Diablo Country Club owner Larry Curtola sold the building to a Diablo family, the Johansons. They converted it into private rental apartments. The Hill family subsequently purchased the Red Horse Apartments and owned it for many years until it was purchased by EB HOUSES LLC of Alamo in January of 2018. Taso Tsakos, representing the new owners, says that the interior has already been significantly renovated and that their goal is to faithfully restore and preserve the historic exterior of the building, which was named and featured as one of five "Historic Icons of the Valley" by the Museum of the San Ramon Valley in January, 2016.

pose the project. Nonetheless, the Town Council approved it in 2013 essentially as first publically proposed and with no Measure S public vote. SOS -Danville Group, comprised of those local residents, sued the Town Council and won in 2016, forcing the Council to rescind its approvals. Subsequently, SummerHill Homes pulled out of the project and later Davidon Homes substituted in.

Latest news: To comply with the court's order, the Town is preparing a draft revised Environmental Impact Report ("EIR"), which the Town expects to release any day.

Unfortunately, the current indications are that the Town will not be not be offering any additional mitigations for the project's significant environmental impacts. Regarding bicyclist safety, weeks ago SOS sent to the Town a Diablo Road bicyclist safety report including an analysis of current conditions and a list of recommendations for significantly improving safety for bicyclists immediately, and in the near-term. The report was the product of hundreds of hours of work by SOS volunteers and a bicycle safety expert hired by SOS. To date, there has been no response from either the Town, or from some local bicyclist safety activists in Danville and Diablo, to whom the report was copied. Please email me if you wish to have a copy of this report.

Please look for announcements through SOS updates to our supporters and on Nextdoor Diablo so you are aware when the draft EIR is publicly released, the deadlines for commenting thereon, and the dates for attending hearings before the Danville Planning Commission and the Danville Town Council.

Spring Stroll Was A Roaring Success! by Dana Pingatore

The Diablo Historic Preservation Committee hosted a wonderful spring Stroll Through The Roaring 20's on May 19th. David Mackesey led a delightfully informative tour, relating the colorful stories of the founding of Diablo through the 1920's. Stories focused on 13 of Diablo's historic homes, along the mid stretch of Alameda Diablo, which were all built between 1920-1928.

Owners of the historic homes generously let the tour into their gardens to see the history and architecture up close. Some particularly delightful moments on the stroll included:

-- The glee on David Mackesey's face

as he told of the discovery of a legendary horse head with a flowing mane that's been right here all along.

-- Stepping into the Birka-White home to see the magnificent living room where Herbert Hoover, then running for the office of President, spoke before a Contra Costa County women's group.

-- Being permitted inside the gates of the 2.7 acre gardens of Penny Adam's Tile Pile.

--Receiving 1914 pennies while David told the story of Diablo's connection to the SF Mint.

After meandering up and down Alameda Diablo, the walk concluded with a lovely lunch reception at Wags Tails, home of Scott Lawrence and Kent Johnson. Diane Daley-Smith and Barry Bennett characterized it as "the best $19.98 we ever spent!"

The mission of the Diablo Historic Preservation Committee (DHPC) is to educate residents and celebrate Diablo's rich history, architecture and traditions in order to preserve it. All residents are invited to participate. Meetings are generally held every other month at Diablo Country Club. Please contact Tony & Dee Geisler or see the display case for DPOA in the Post Office for more information.
