A Brief History

James Harrison, also known as Jim or Jimmie Harrison, was born about 1858 in Brunswick County, Virginia. James would grow up on the small Harrison Farm in rural Ante, Brunswick County, Virginia with his siblings John, Samuel, Benjamin, Sallie and Richard.

James married Rosena "Rosa" Davis in Greensville County, Virginia. Rowena's parents were Anderson Davis and Clara Pointer-Davis.

James and Rosa resided in the Zion District of Greensville County, which was established in 1781. The town of Emporia, centrally located in the county, was designated as the county seat at the time of the county's formation.

THE CHILDREN

Researching the 1900-1950 census revealed that most of James and Rosa's children married and settled in the Greensville County, Virginia area. According to the US Federal Census, Robert, James Jr., Merritt, and Richard all worked as general farmers, self-employed. In contrast, Peter's occupation was listed as a farm laborer.
