FORWARD LATINO CALLS ON WEST VIRGINIA SENATOR JOE MANCHIN TO STOP MAKING THREATS AND DELAYING BUILD BACK BETTER LEGISLATION

Franklin, WI: Forward Latino, a non-profit, non-partisan advocacy and service organization with members in 29 states calls on West Virginia Senator Joe Manchin to stop making threats and delaying the passage of Build Back Better legislation.

Forward Latino National President Darryl Morin issued the following statement:

“For months the American people have been patiently waiting for the social infrastructure relief President Biden’s Build Back Better plan will provide, only to see it delayed by West Virginia Senator Joe Manchin. By denying families access to affordable medication like insulin, to keeping mother’s out of the workforce by blocking access to affordable childcare, Senator Manchin’s tactics are hurting American families and the American economy. The Congressional Budget Office scored the legislation at Senator Manchin’s request, and found that the bill pays for itself and reduces inflation in the long-term. It is time for Senator Manchin to stop making threats, to stop hurting the people of West Virginia and our nation and vote to pass Build Back Better legislation!”
