ABOUT NICOLE

Nicole Senior is a communicator, storyteller, voice actor, children's author and broadcaster with more than 20 years' experience across technology, financial services, media and community radio.

Drawing on professional expertise and lived experience, Nicole shares honest, engaging and often humorous stories about career reinvention, parenting and neurodiversity, the juggle of multiple roles, and finding your voice.

SPEAKING TOPICS

The Life I Thought I Was Getting
A funny and honest exploration of what happens when life ignores the carefully written script, and how we can still choose what comes next.

Career Reinvention
Embracing change, rediscovering old passions and creating new opportunities, regardless of age, responsibilities or how unconventional the journey looks.

The Art of Juggling It All
A relatable look at careers, creative ambition, parenting and the never-ending mental load of wearing far too many hats.

Parenting & Neurodiversity
Honest stories about raising a neurodivergent child, advocating for inclusion and navigating the challenges, lessons and unexpected humour along the way.

Finding Your Voice
Building confidence, embracing individuality and recognising that personal stories can help people feel seen, understood and less alone.
