

What Would You Do To Improve This Story?

MORNING:

Now remember, Cedric, deliver a paper to every house in your area!

Yes, sir!

TEMPTATION BEGINS:

It's taking a long time to do this. I wish I could just get rid of these papers!

GIVING IN TO TEMPTATION:

Nobody will ever know!

RATIONALIZING SIN:

Besides, most people go to those stores on Saturday anyway.

EVENING:

Cedric has seven dollars for something he didn't do. He also got himself into cheating, lying, and stealing.

All done, huh?

Yes, sir!

Cedric gets a funny feeling in his stomach, can't look his mother in the eye, and never touches a newspaper if he can help it because it reminds him of something unpleasant. But unfortunately he presses down his feelings and steals again.

THE MUSHROOM EFFECT:

When Cedric grows up, he becomes a computer operator . . .

Figured out a way to transfer company funds to my bank account. Won't hurt . . . They should be paying more anyway!
