GROW

AS A DISCIPLE

PRAY, STUDY, ENGAGE, SERVE

We don't have to look far to find grief, violence, or chaos in our world. Perhaps it has made its way into our community or has pierced our hearts in deeply personal ways. Or even if the chaos of life has remained at a distance for now, it can be tempting to wonder if the end is near at times. But Jesus warns us against catastrophic thoughts. Listen to what he says in today's Gospel, when asked how we will know the end time is coming: "When you hear of wars and insurrections, do not be terrified; for such things must happen first, but it will not immediately be the end." Jesus knew we would need his clear and steady reminder. If you find yourself fearing the state of the world, turn all your senses toward Jesus. Let your anxiety, grief, and concern become catalysts for prayer.

GO

EVANGELIZE

PRAYER. INVITATION. WITNESS. ACCOMPANIMENT

Although today's Gospel may at first be one that stirs fear, as we look deeper we realize that Jesus is speaking directly into the heart of our fear and offering his profound consolation. There is so much in this Gospel that can encourage us to continue to bear witness to Christ even in trying times. As we scroll through the news each day, remember Jesus' words to not be "terrified." If you find yourself in circumstances where it's not easy to stand up for your faith, Jesus tells us, "I myself shall give you a wisdom in speaking that your adversaries will be powerless to resist or refute." And when you look to the future with dread, remember that Jesus says, "not a hair on your head will be destroyed." Read these words again, drawing comfort and strength that the Lord is with you, guiding and protecting you through it all.

PRAY If you find yourself feeling overwhelmed this week, pray the Prayer of St. Teresa of Ávila: Let nothing disturb you; Let nothing frighten you; All things are passing away: God never changes. Patience obtains all things. Whoever has God lacks nothing; God alone suffices.

Reflection for Readings on Nov. 17th – St. Elizabeth of Hungary - Imagine you are that blind man on the outskirts of Jericho. Your day starts out like any other. You’re sitting in your accustomed spot by the side of the road, hoping for a few small coins from passersby. Then you hear the noise of an unusually large crowd approaching. You want to know what’s happening. People tell you that Jesus of Nazareth is coming. Here’s your chance! You’ve heard about this miracle-working rabbi. You cry out to get his attention, and you ignore those trying to get you to quiet down. Suddenly, Jesus calls you over to ask what you want. That’s easy! You’re not looking for money or food any longer. You just want to see. And with a word, he heals you! Now you know that you never want to let Jesus out of your sight again. You follow him down the road, joyfully glorifying God. Soon others are joining in your shouts of praise. Wouldn’t it be wonderful to have experienced that miracle? We all have the same longing as the man in today’s Gospel: we want to see. Most of all—and even if we don’t recognize it—we want to see Jesus and follow where he leads. Guess what? Jesus will be passing by you today! He will be there in prayer or at Mass, when you can call out to him in need and rejoice in signs of his love. He will be there, ready to give you his full attention. His healing presence will be close by as the Holy Spirit brings a new understanding of God’s love or an insight into his word that calms your troubled heart. He will be there in your fellow believers, who might share an encouraging—or challenging—word or who might offer to pray with you. And he will be there in those who are poor and neglected, who might bring you healing as you care for them and love them with the love of Christ. So, call out to Jesus today. Bring him your needs and your hopes and your dreams. Let him heal you and lead you in his ways. “Jesus, Son of David, have pity on me! Lord, let me see you today!” Reprinted with permission of The Word Among Us, 7115 Guilford Dr #100, Frederick, MD 21704 November 2025 wau.org, 301-874-1700
