About Surat

SURAT – A JEWEL IN CROWN OF “VIBRANT GUJARAT”

Surat is a jewel in the crown of the vibrant state of Gujarat. It is the commercial capital of Gujarat with a highest GDP in the country, in terms of GDP contribution from the cities of India, Surat is ranked as 8th in the total ranking having a GDP of nearly US $ 58 billion, which is more than many countries of the world.

As per a study, Surat is currently the world's fastest growing city in terms of its GDP contribution and population growth.

Surat is also known as India's Diamond city and "Silk city" under man made fibre textiles, Surat is competing directly with China, and has highest in the world waterjet machines just next to the count of entire China.

Surat contributes to nearly 65% of the production of MMF textiles in India.

National Council of Applied Economic Research (NCAER) has declared Surat as the most prosperous Indian city.

World's biggest diamond cutting & polishing industry.

The Hazira belt about 17 kms from Surat has the highest investment figure with the presence of many conglomerates like Reliance, L & T, ONGC, Arcelormittal, HTPC, GAIL, KRIBHCO, Shell, Ambuja Cement mention worthy corporate.

*Total yarn sales per year: 115 billion INR

*Total fabric production per year: 13,000 million meters

Appx sale value of fabric produced in a year: 850 billion INR

Overview of the Surat textile industry

The textile industry in Surat is engaged in yarn production, weaving, processing as well as embroidery. Surat is well known for its synthetic products market. Nearly 30 million metres of raw fabric and 25 million metres of processed fabric are produced in Surat daily. The city has several textile markets that exist since times immemorial. Zampa bazaar, Bombay market, JJ textile market and Jash market are among them. Katatgam, Magdalla and Udhana are the areas of Surat where manufacturing is mainly concentrated.

Major markets

The main market for Surat's textile products are India and other Asian countries. Around 90% of polyester used in India comes from Surat. International demand for its products is not very significant. The Middle East is the major export market. According to experts, more improvisation in the quality is required.

challenges faced

The Surat textile industry has gone through quite a few setbacks as well.

Most of the traders have a fixed group of clients, with whom they trade.

Most of the business is done on credit basis.

The rising cost of power and labour, which consequently raises the cost of production is another issue

The industry faces shortage of skilled labour.

Severe labour crunch is felt by the industry during April-June when the laborers travel to their home towns.
