Message from Father Apostolos

In his 2018 St. John Chrysostom Oratorical Festival speech, Joshua Pardhe addresses the scourge of violence in society and gives a spiritual solution to it.

Topic Question #5: Our lives are saturated with violence, not only in terms of the proliferation of war and terrorism but even as entertainment through movies and video games. In such an environment, how can a Christian cultivate virtues that lead to empathy, peacemaking, and self-sacrifice?

“Imagine that you stumbled across this comment as you browsed YouTube: “I’m going to be a professional school shooter.” How would you react, and what would you have done? When I first heard those words on the news, I was shocked, since as a Christian, I couldn’t understand how someone could so callously threaten to kill people. I thought that everyone who originally saw this comment would have instantly flagged it for removal, but we know of only one person who took the initiative to report the comment to the authorities. Most people did not see the aggressive comment as a problem. On St. Valentine’s Day last month, we all watched as the writer of this sentence actually carried out his threat at a high school in Florida. Why didn’t anyone act when faced with such a violent comment? Has our society become desensitized to such violence? And what can we as Orthodox Christians do to in a world that is filled with it?

There are two main sources of violence that we experience each day: real and fictional. We see real violence in the horrible events around the world due to the spread of war and terrorism these days. Events like these are a reality that people face: up to 1.5 billion people today live in areas of political instability, conflict, or large-scale organized violence. However, many relief organizations like the IOCC and the Red Cross have gone into these war zones to bring peace and love to those affected by war, trying to reduce the amount of violence and cruelty in our world. But there is another way that violence affects each and every one of us, and this is in the form of fictional, created violence. We see violence like this inundate our lives through video games, movies, and TV shows. Ultra-realistic movies used to cater only to a fringe of mass culture; but now, anatomically precise effects, advanced 3D graphics, and a proclivity to leave absolutely nothing to the imagination has caused our entertainment of all forms to become more gruesome than ever. With this kind of exposure to violence on a daily basis, it becomes clear why most people didn’t respond to the YouTube comment I mentioned above: we had become indifferent to its content.

So how did violence enter the world? It was never found in the original state of man, as Fr. Athanasios Mitilinaios explains. Since the devil was jealous that God gave Adam and Eve dominion over all creation, he tempted them to eat the forbidden fruit in the Garden of Eden, hoping that God would kill them for their disobedience. Once the devil saw that God not only allowed Adam and Eve to live, but even allowed them to bear children, the devil tempted Cain to kill his brother Abel. This was the first entry of violence in our world. In our current era, it is manifested in the wars, terrorism, and violence-infused “entertainment” of our generation.

But we don’t have to stay under its influence. Although the devil’s goal is to steal, kill, and destroy, Jesus Himself came to save us and give us a way towards salvation. As we read in the Bible, Jesus came to bring “peace and goodwill to all men.” During each Great Litany, the Orthodox Church as the body of Christ prays for “peace in the world,” and we sing together “Lord, have mercy!” As Orthodox Christians, we can cultivate the fruits of the Spirit needed to mend our broken world: the nine virtues of love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. We as Christians have a responsibility to bring the message of the Gospel to the world, to free the world from the violence that fills it. I have seen the effect that the Church can have on our society. I worked as a Narthex greeter during our parish’s Greek festival for two years, and during that time I saw dozens of people of all backgrounds walk in and simply stand in awe at the peace that radiates from the sanctuary. The power of the gospel was given to us by Jesus and is present in the Church, but we must spread its message to the world.

The events that led to the Florida tragedy was caused in part by a society that was desensitized to violence. We as Christians must focus our energy and time to bring the Gospel message of peace to our friends and neighbors, and we must avoid over-exposing ourselves to the violent content that the world tries to flood our minds with. St. Paul wrote in Philippians: “Finally, brethren, whatever is true, whatever is honorable, whatever is just, whatever is pure, whatever is lovely, whatever is commendable, if there is any excellence, if there is anything worthy of praise, think about these things.” Let us therefore challenge the violence-filled world that we live in and spread the Gospel message of peace to those around us. Although it can seem hard, we can take comfort in the knowledge of Jesus’ words from the Book of John when he tells us, “In the world, you will have tribulation. But take heart, for I have overcome the world.” Violence may have a hold in our society today, but with the Gospel of Jesus, we can cultivate Christian virtues in ourselves and bring those around us into the peace of the Church.”

Stewardship 2018

*“Whatever you do, work at it with all your heart, as working for the Lord, not for men...”

Stewardship Goals

Christos Anesti! As we bask in the glory of Pascha, we are about to round the corner to the halfway point in the year, which is a perfect time to evaluate where we are in our 2018 goals for Stewardship.

As you may recall, we, the Parish Assembly, voted to approve the 2018 budget which set the goal for Stewardship at $380,000. This is a very attainable goal! After all, in 2017, the Parish collectively pledged $380,000. We simply want to match 2017's goal.

We currently sit at $332,010.28 so far pledged by 261 families for 2018. Of those 261 families, 70 are utilizing WeShare, our easy, on-line, automated payment system. We are quite a bit shy of our budgeted goal. So, at this half-way point let us all reflect and evaluate. Have you filled out your 2018 Pledge Card? If not, now is the time. Your Cathedral is counting on you and we need your generous commitment.

Fill out your Pledge Card on-line. Simply go to: www.holytrinityphx.org. Click on the blue “Stewardship 2018” button. Fill out the Pledge Card completely and click “Submit.” From there you may choose “WeShare” to make your payments easy and automated on a weekly or monthly basis. Or, select to pay with cash or check in the offering trays on Sundays. Any way you choose to do it, please do become a current member in good standing of your Cathedral.

Examples of Stewardship

Stewardship comes in all shapes and sizes. It is not just about financial giving. Although the financial giving is what allows our Church to operate, pay bills, salaries, etc., there are other ways our Holy Trinity parishioners set beautiful examples of Stewardship.

One of our Holy Trinity families generously and anonymously covered all the expenses for our Makaria meal following Divine Liturgy on Holy Saturday night. What a spirit of giving and humility!

We had several families come forward to give donations for the Community Center Refresh Project. Thanks to those families, we were able to complete this project and give our beloved Hall a simple, yet effective, upgrade.

Our Holy Trinity parishioners are some of the most generous and giving people I have ever seen. When there is a need, it is somehow met. Just look around, the examples of Stewardship are all around us at coffee hour, at Philoptochos meetings, in Sunday School or at AHEPA events. We are a community of workers and doers. Together we can accomplish any goal we set!

Byzantine Chant Beginners' Classes

Beginners' classes in Byzantine Chant has begun its second year. Class begins at 11am and will go to 1pm every other Saturday morning. Students will learn Byzantine Musical Notation, the Eight Modes, and the most common hymns of Matins and Divine Liturgy. Students will also be expected to do "field work," entailing observation and participation at Sunday Matins. The goal of the classes will be to provide the area with a new generation of Cantors and to enhance our own fledgling Byzantine choir; therefore, membership should be limited to those who will actually be using their knowledge in a practical way.

If you would like to learn the art of chanting and would like to serve the Church in this capacity, please contact Father Apostolos, Cantors George Duvall or Sam Herron, or call the Cathedral Office.

Hellenic Historical Museum

Located in the northeast section of the James A. Speros Community Center, the Museum displays vintage photographs and other historic artifacts related to pioneer Greek families in Phoenix from the early 1900s, the founding in 1930 of the first Hellenic Orthodox Church in Arizona, and up to the relocation in 1973 at the present site of Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Cathedral.

Now, the Museum is looking for photos taken after 1973. That covers a lot, we know. So to start, we are looking for group photos, such as committee, membership, and board pictures.

Do you have any that you would like to share? The photos could be the originals—or we can accept scanned photos. Contact Bessie Hotis 602-953-1913 for more information.
