Message from Father Apostolos

A Re-calibration

Each of us, if asked to recall a teacher who had a profound impact on us, would likely select one who challenged us to excel. In my case, that was my fourth-grade teacher, Mrs. Lewis. Somehow, despite my class clown facade, she suspected that there was a much better student lurking beneath. Mrs. Lewis doggedly whipped me into shape and would accept nothing less from me than my best!

Years later as I was leaving junior high for high school, I walked down the hallway to her classroom and thanked her for her efforts. (Yes, that really happened!) And I remember that she told me she believed in me enough to push me hard to achieve. Thank God she did!

Parents go to great lengths and to great expense to find a school rich in educational opportunities for their children. Once found, these parents will commit themselves to supporting their children’s educational aspirations, driving long distances, volunteering for school events, shuffling schedules, even changing jobs in pursuit of those goals.

And if this holds true for our children in academic pursuits, how much more ought it hold true for their spiritual development?

In speaking this Spring with the leadership of our Cathedral Sunday School ministry it was apparent that a re-calibration is in order. I listened carefully to the numbers, that on a good Sunday less than half of our registered students will attend Sunday School, and that on many Sundays a bare handful will be present in the classroom, on some Sundays, none at all.

We have been dutifully using the same Sunday School materials offered by our Archdiocese since they were published decades ago, this to ever diminishing effect. There are no online, interactive catechetical materials available from any of our departments or Orthodox jurisdictions for our children even though today’s students are highly visual learners.

Sunday School ministries are typically self-funded with no budget monies allocated to them beyond what an annual open-house coffee hour or pancake breakfast can raise. And I can assure you on the strength of nearly thirty years of youth ministry that such a pro-forma approach to educating our youth in the fundamental aspects of their Orthodox Christian faith is simply not getting the job done.

This is not to say that our dedicated staff of Sunday School teachers aren’t giving it their all. But as the savvy parent understands, there must be a collaborative approach to education between the classroom and the family dining room table. Those students which excel in their primary studies have interested and invested parents at home collaborating with the teacher.

As summer draws to a close and the yellow boxes of back-to-school supplies appear in department stores, our Cathedral Sunday School staff is preparing for the new semester and to launch into a new and more robust Orthodox Christian curriculum for our 7th through 10th grade students, the link to which can be found here:

https://oca.org/orthodoxy/the-orthodox-faith

This classic of basic catechism is presented in four volumes; Doctrine and Scripture, Worship, Church History, and Spirituality. And each chapter and section can be linked separately, enabling our teachers to send the student and parent the lesson materials for the upcoming week. This will allow the parents to follow the lesson plan from week to week and to participate in their young ones’ spiritual development.

Our 11th and 12th grade students will be reviewing another Orthodox classic titled “The Orthodox Way” by the Archbishop Kallistos Way, free pdf’s for which can be found online from numerous public domain sites. This class will take place in the Cathedral after the dismissal of the service and will be co-taught by me, Mr. Dan McGinnis, and Mr. Chris Demoss.

Some may and likely will protest that such sources are “too advanced” for our middle and high school students. Nonsense! Others will point out that not all parents and students will be committed to reviewing the lesson materials for the upcoming week. But in light of a 50% attendance rate in our Sunday School classrooms on a good Sunday there is, as one staff member plainly stated, “nothing left to lose.”

Indeed, there is much to be gained by raising the bar and by challenging those students whose families are committed to their spiritual lives with content-rich materials which will prepare them for living vibrant and dynamic Christian lives.

If you have teaching experience and would like to join this vitally important parish ministry I look forward to hearing from you! And I am certain that our Cathedral parents will eagerly join in this worthwhile effort to reinforce our educational offerings for our young ones and their spiritual development in Christ!

All Holy Trinity Parishioners are invited to attend

Ministry Sunday
Sunday, September 9
Following Liturgy in the Speros Center Large Hall
Hosted by the Stewardship Committee

Each of our ministries will have a table during Coffee Hour where you can sign up, get involved, or simply get more information on the dozens of ministries Holy Trinity offers.

Being an active participant in the ministries of the Church is one of the best examples of Stewardship. We look forward to seeing everyone there.

Epistle Readers

To all youth and young adults: we continue our rotation of readers of the Epistle each Sunday Liturgy! Please contact Fr. Apostolos if you would like to get involved. Even if you might be uncomfortable reading, Father and others have offered to help you prepare. This is a beautiful ministry and way to participate in the life of the Church, so please consider taking part!

June and July Readers

Parish Council President’s Report
Connie Contes, President

On Sunday, August 12th, following Divine Liturgy, the Parish Council will hold a Special Meeting of the Parish Assembly to consider a proposal by our tenant, Little Big Minds, to build one classroom and bathrooms on the ground-level of the education building. LBM will pay for this project, with the Cathedral offering rent abatement on the new space (at the same rental rate as for the upstairs space) of up to 50% of the construction cost not to exceed $30,000. This proposal has been unanimously approved by the Parish Council at its July meeting. Details and a preliminary plan will be provided soon with the meeting agenda.

While our relationship with LBM is going well, the income from the original lease agreement does not solve the Cathedral’s financial concerns. Our Cathedral campus is beautiful and extensive, but we have a cash flow difficulty. Each month since the last Festival, we spend more money than we bring in, which is unsustainable especially with the maintenance and repair needs of our community. In July alone, storms resulted in the failure (so far) of five older A/C units, which cost more than $22,000 to repair/replace. Plus, we must repair a broken sewer pipe near the Community Center, which needs to be fixed before the Festival. Earlier this year, we had to spend $11,000 to keep the Cathedral’s chiller up and running. The entire chiller is working beyond its usable life and is expected to fail or need more major repairs in another year or so. The replacement cost for the chiller totals around $113,000. We still need to find funds to pay for preserving our beautiful faceted glass windows in the Cathedral. And we have ongoing plumbing, electric and landscaping issues. Consequently, we have had to suspend extra payments to reduce the mortgage debt.

On a positive note, Fr. Apostolos has received a handful of donations to sustain the ministries of the Cathedral. We also are very grateful to Christos and Connie Panagiotakopoulos for donating the labor and materials to repair the freezer in the auxiliary kitchen, which saved us from having to spend at least $7,700. They stepped up when we really needed help now that Festival baking is underway. Thank you, Christos and Connie.

PC is working on a mid-year budget review, which we will provide as soon as it’s available.

With faith and love,
Connie Contes

On Sunday, July 8, Holy Trinity Cathedral became the home of a new Byzantine choir as our heretofore small chant group expanded into an antiphonal format, reviving an ancient Christian form of worship in the Valley.

The choir sang the services of Matins and Liturgy during the Sundays of July 8, 15 and 22 using Byzantine cantoral music in both English and Greek. The Matins musical texts were drawn from the translations and musical renderings of the AGES Initiatives group, while the Liturgical music was composed by our Cantor Samuel Herron.

Antiphonal singing has been practiced since the dawn of the Christian Church and was used by both Eastern and Western Churches until recently. An antiphonal choir consists of two “half choirs,” each standing on the right and left sides of the altar area. The choirs alternate singing the hymns: as one choir sings the melody, the other choir holds the “ison” or drone, which is a major component of traditional Byzantine chant.

Members of the Byzantine Choir put in many hours of work to bring this project to fruition. We regularly hold chant classes in which members learn to read the musical notation, study the different sounds of the 8 modes, and learn about the structure of the services in which they participate. We also hold rehearsals to further coordinate the services, but the music is really learned by hard hours of practice.

New members are always welcome, provided they devote themselves to learning and practicing the essentials. A little study will open the door to a lifetime of experiencing our ancient and unique cantoral tradition. For more information about joining, feel free to contact either George Duvall (phxcantor@cox.net) or Samuel Herron (herron.samuel@gmail.com).
Music Ministry
by Terri Alexon, Director

Praise the Lord! For it is good to sing praises to our God; for it is pleasant, and a song of praise is fitting.
Psalm 147:1

The music ministry at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Cathedral is pleased to announce its participation in an exciting recording project of Orthodox hymns!

While there are chant recordings featuring English, the "English Hyphasis Project," coordinated by Chanter Sam Herron, will be the first professionally recorded work that presents Byzantine chant ALL in English.

Participating in the project are 15 chanters, choir members and clergy from the Phoenix Metropolitan area--Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox Cathedral, Assumption Orthodox Church, Fr. Chris Salamy of St. George Antiochian Orthodox Church--and other experienced chanters from across the United States. Protopsaltis George Duvall provided guidance and feedback at the group first recording session recently held in Phoenix.

The recording will feature the hymns of St. George on Bright Monday and Pascha. It’s important to know that when the commemoration of St. George falls before Pascha, his feast is moved to the first day after Pascha, Bright Monday.

Thus, "the hymns of St. George are paired with the hymns of Pascha, giving the project a beautiful, dual theme of a great Orthodox martyr and the glorious resurrection of our Lord Jesus Christ," Sam said.

God willing, the recording will be available for purchase next year. Stay tuned!

Photos

Photos of the recordings were taken by Joshua Pardhe, who noted, “As for the photos, a small footnote could be added near the link mentioning that the photos are just candid shots I took of the chanters and others (like the sound engineer, Mr. Cremeen’s family, etc.) who were at the practice and recording sessions over the course of the three days. Please also mention that the last picture (of me) was taken by Noah Sweilem.”

Rehearsal was held at Assumption Greek Orthodox Church in Scottsdale and the recordings were held at Saint Francis Xavier Catholic Church in Phoenix.

St. Nectarios Books & Beyond
By Patsy Harris

Since August is the last month of the ecclesiastical year, I would like to take this opportunity to thank those of who, first, have visited us this past year, and second, those of you who have from time to time donated either time or items for St. Nectarios Books and Beyond. Most of all, I want to thank each of you for sharing your faith and beliefs with me, and with others present at the time. THIS is what the Ministry of the Bookstore is meant to be!

I am working with the Parish Council on finding a permanent solution to the problem of heating and air conditioning the Bookstore. I especially am grateful to Connie Contes, Sandy Meris, Angela Raup, and Adam Venetis for personally responding to my emails! Also, a heart-felt thank you to Adam Venetis and Jim Contes for actually coming to see what is needed and what can be done. To all the Council, please know that as parishioners we appreciate VERY MUCH knowing that not only are you willing to listen to requests, but you are willing to take action to resolve issues! I realize that this problem will take some more time to solve, but all of us from the Bookstore (and beyond to our non-parishioner visitors!) are not only dependent upon, but are confident in your efforts to do so!

August Holy Days:

August 6: Holy Transfiguration – As Christ was approaching His time of the Passion, He took His three most intimate disciples to the top of Mount Tabor, where He was transfigured and revealed as the Light of the Holy Trinity. The voice of God once more stated that “This is my beloved Son,” and admonished His Disciples (and us through them) to “Hear Ye Him.” It is important to note that this revelation and Transfiguration came only after the effort was made to scale the heights of the Mount. So must we, too, make a personal effort to endure this life’s struggles yet persevere to reach the Goal of being with Christ and in Christ forevermore.

August 15: Dormition of the Theotokos – From the liturgical point of view, this is the most important of the feastdays dedicated to the Holy Virgin. It is preceded by the two-week Lent of the Theotokos. Only in the Vespers and Matins is her death given reference; the Gospel and hymns of the Liturgy draw from the other feast days of her life. Through her death, the hymns state “the source of life is laid in the tomb, and her tomb becomes a ladder to Heaven.” In Mary, human nature reached its goal.

August 29: Beheading of John the Baptist – This feast does not celebrate so much the man who baptized Jesus and preached repentance as it does he who championed the moral law, and was killed because that law was hated. (The Year of Grace of the Lord)

Have a very blessed month! Come visit and reflect on what you must personally do to follow Christ!

If St. Nectarios Books and Beyond can assist in any way, please contact us at: www.stnectariosbooksandbeyond.org or patsy@stnectariosphx.org, Patsy Harris – 480-239-5270

Philoptochos-sponsored Kids ‘n’ Cancer Camp Agape Update

Holy Trinity Cathedral’s St. Katherine Chapter of Philoptochos would like to thank the many members and friends who so generously donated to this worthy cause. To the volunteers that helped set up the Speros Center’s Large Hall on Friday and Saturday to get ready for the Agape Ball, to those who bought tickets, to those who donated items for our Silent Auction, and to those who prepared delicious food for the dinner—we thank you. To Marie Spanos who so generously made three beautiful children’s quilts, knitted caps, and other items, to her daughter Vasiliki Stratouly, her Godddaughter, Zoe and her sister, Ellie for rather than accepting two of the quilts, gave them to be donated to the Kids ‘n’ Cancer/Camp Agape—we thank you. (Please note: their donations were not on the list of donors at the Agape Ball.) Members of all four local Greek Orthodox churches volunteered—thanks to them all. To our Metropolis Philoptochos President, Jennie Ranglas—especially thank you! The children adore her, so much was given to all of the families! God bless them all.

Sunday School

Sunday School is about to begin a new year on September 9th! The teachers and staff are all excited to see everyone back after a relaxing summer for everyone. We pray everyone had a wonderful summer with family and friends.

Sunday School will be hosting Coffee Hour for the month of August and we will have a registration table in the Large Hall during Coffee Hour. Come see us for some refreshments and drop by our table to meet the teachers and see some of the exciting new things we have in store for the children for the coming year!

This year we look forward to some new classroom locations as we accommodate Little Big Minds. We will have all hands on deck on Sunday morning, September 9th to direct parents and students. For starters, we will now be entering the Education Building through the HTA doors. The preschool-6th grade will be in the Education Building. The 7th and 8th grade classroom has moved to one of the Community Center classrooms for now. Youth Forum, led by Evan Tsagaris, will continue to also be in one of the Community Center classrooms. The Sunday school staff has been working hard this summer to get their new classrooms ready for the new year!

Father Apostolos and our 3rd/4th grade teacher, Evan Alexon, have also been working hard this summer to improve our curriculum for Sunday School. We will begin that transition this year with those additions and changes for all grade levels. Our new curriculum includes more communication with families via email and an interactive program that can be explored at home during the week!

As we look forward to our exciting new year, here are a few highlights to look back on from last year! We started the year rehabbing the Youth Forum classroom in the Community Center and finished the year by rehabbing a classroom for the 7th/8th grade. During the year, the youth music ministry held practices every Sunday after Sunday school by Holy Trinity’s choir director, Terri Alexon. Our preschool/Kindergartners led by Pamela Maydanis learned about God creating the world including our blue sky, our 7th/8th graders learned about the Saints and presented them to the class. Other highlights include the Christmas pageant with our adorable little performers, Lazarus Saturday and the always fun Palm Cross folding, and our many talented orators for the St John Chrysostom Oratorical Festival. This year Holy Trinity hosted the district level Oratorical. Elizabeth and Joshua Pardhe and Christina Kyprianou all went on to present their speeches at the St. Nicholas Ranch for the Metropolis level Oratorical Festival.

Our Sunday School staff recently met and have some exciting new ideas for this new school year about to begin on September 9th! We can’t wait to see you!

Announcements!
Welcome back everyone! I hope all of you had a fun and wonderful summer.

As you start getting ready for school and setting your Fall calendars, let’s throw all the dance dates up as well! Below you will find a full Fall calendar, starting with the first practice on Sunday, August 19th! By this time all the kids should be in school already and everyone will be back from vacations.

Registration will stay open for the first two weeks of Fall Practices.

Below, you will find an editable copy (PDF) of the Registration form. Feel free to fill it out digitally and email it back to me, print it, fill it out, and bring it to church, or find me at Coffee Hour for a blank sheet!

If you are interested in helping with the dance program, please reach out! We are always looking for volunteers to assist in teaching groups, assisting with costumes, helping with coffee hour, and putting on dance events! Please contact Niko for more information.

Do we have any artists or graphic designers in our program?? Dance is holding a design contest! I want to make two things:

1) A large poster board to use at Coffee Hour, Registration Tables, and Dance Events

2) A small information card (postcard-ish sized) to hold in the Narthex, and pass out when people are interested in dance or interested in having us perform at events!

Winner will receive a special Greek Dance Based Prize which is still being chosen.

Please feel free to reach out with questions, ideas, or design submissions!
