Celebrating Christmas

The Holiday Season is upon us again and not a moment too soon! This is a year we will bid adieu come New Year's Eve with a palpable sense of relief. And as our festive traditions commence, we find ourselves again asking such burning questions as this; "Can the 1988 Bruce Willis movie 'Die Hard' be considered a Holiday movie?" Let me explain.

The running gag is whether or not a single, passing Christmas scene or reference in a song or film qualifies it to be included in one's Holiday rotation. By that logic, such other films as "Grumpy Old Men," and such songs as "Favorite Things," and "Baby it's Cold Outside," can also be considered sufficiently Christmasy to merit inclusion.

We associate a great many such "traditional" totems with Christmas, even when they have very little to do with the Holiday, a lament popularized in 1964 with the release of the classic Holiday hit "A Charlie Brown Christmas." Hearing Charlie Brown's question "Isn't there anyone who can tell me what Christmas is all about?" and Lucy's whispered "It's run by a big eastern syndicate, you know!" seem quaint nearly 60 years later.

Many of us pine every year for a "good old-fashioned Christmas" and this year, whether we like it or not, we may get our wish as the shadow of the Covid virus persists. The customary celebrations, if they can occur at all, will likely be muted affairs. Holiday shopping will be different with 70% of recent survey respondents signaling their preference for on-line purchases over in-person excursions. The economic impact of the virus afflicts many households.

This Christmas will be different, but must that mean it will be disappointing? Many of the trappings we associate with the Holiday Season, like the movie "Die Hard" have virtually nothing to do with "what Christmas is all about." I always chuckle when the annual dispute appears over "Merry Christmas," vs. "Happy Holidays," or "Season's Greetings" since - as an Orthodox Christian - I don't really have a dog in that fight though I may faint if ever I see "Christ is Born! Glorify Him!" emblazoned across an ad slick!

The Feast of the Incarnation of the Word, as it is properly known in the Orthodox world, makes available to us a rich banquet of liturgical celebrations, festal hymnody, fasting and feasting, and appointed readings. The kernel of the Gospel message is contained within this feast! But how might we take fullest advantage of these spiritual aspects of the season in an Orthodox way? Here are some suggestions.

The month of December includes many important commemorations for such Saints as Barbara, Savas, Nicholas, Ambrose, Dionysios, and Spyridon. Our cycle of services for the Feast run from the Royal Hours service on the 23rd, to the Vesperal Divine Liturgy of St. Basil on the morning of Christmas Eve and the Matins and Divine Liturgy of Christmas in the evening. Throw in our weekly Paraklesis Service on Wednesday evenings, and the weekend cycle of Vespers, Matins, and Divine Liturgy, and there are opportunities to accommodate every schedule.

In our homes and with our families, perhaps we can accentuate the Dickensian theme of sharing our blessings with the poor and newly unemployed. Long lines of hungry citizens at area food banks are common scenes in daily newscasts. Our support of local food banks and shelters can provide life-saving sustenance to those in need and a reaffirmation of our faith. Our grandsons brought Christmas cookies to the nearby fire station last year (a win-win for little boys!) and mom and dad hope to continue the tradition.

It has been a difficult and challenging year for our weary world. But as a refrain from our festal hymnology affirms "Where else would the Light have shone if not upon those who sat in darkness?" The Feast of the Incarnation of the Word provides a potent reminder of the extravagant love of God for us, and our Orthodox celebrations reinforce the personal applicability of the message "Glory to God in the highest, Peace on Earth, and Good will to all men."

This is a year to make a virtue of necessity. But by embracing the limitations imposed upon us by the virus’ rapid escalation (and do, please fervently pray for its victims and for healthcare workers who valiantly labor to save them!) we may discover new avenues for celebrating with our families the Birth of Christ, avenues that open for us the deep spiritual meaning of the feast.

"God is with us!" is the festival proclamation we will hear in Matins of Christmas Eve. Let us never forget these hopeful words as we enter this festal season with joy in our hearts!

Rev. Father Apostolos Hill | Dean

Light a Virtual Candle

In this time more than ever we need prayer. For those not able to come to the Cathedral yet, we have set up this ability to light a candle virtually!

Please click the link above and follow the instructions. Enter your name and the names of those you wish prayed for in the PayPal “Notes” section, and Father Apostolos or Father Alexander will light a candle and say a prayer for you.
STEWARDSHIP SUNDAY – DECEMBER 6th

Please join us for Stewardship Sunday on December 6th. Plan to bring your completed 2021 pledge and we will collect them in the Cathedral where they will be taken up to the altar and blessed by Fathers Apostolos and Alexander.

Each family will receive a gift of gratitude for their participation on Stewardship Sunday.

Participate in our first Stewardship Challenge:

1) Please consider “rounding up” your 2021 pledge over your 2020 pledge
2) We are asking for 100% participation from our stewardship to turn in their 2021 pledge and make a contribution toward that pledge by Jan. 31, 2021.

Stewardship is everything we do after we say “I believe.”
Stewardship is about how we live our lives and make our choices.

Stewardship Sunday
SUNDAY, DECEMBER 6

We are to give, St. Paul says, “as God has prospered you” (1 Cor. 16:2). He teaches us clearly, “He who sows bountifully will also reap bountifully.”

The month of December offers us the opportunity to celebrate the Holy Nativity of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ as well as the feast days of Sts. Nicholas the Wonderworker and Spyridon the Wonderworker and bishop of Tremithus.

Nativity of our Lord
Commemorated on December 25

The Feast of the Nativity of Jesus is one of the most joyful days of the Orthodox Church. It ranks next to the greatest holiday, the Resurrection of Jesus. The Feast of the Birth of Jesus is also known as the "Incarnation of Christ." This means that Jesus became a man and came into the world to save us. We also refer to this joyous feast as Christmas.

Emperor Augustus ordered that a census be taken in all his lands. Everyone had to go to the town of their family's origin to register for the census. This meant that Mary and Joseph had to go to Bethlehem. They were descendants of King David and Bethlehem was the City of David.

Mary and Joseph lived in Nazareth and it was a great distance from Bethlehem. Mary was expecting the baby and it was almost time for her to give birth. Bethlehem was a small town and there were many descendants of David who had come to register for the census. By the time Mary and Joseph arrived in Bethlehem there was no place for them to stay. Finally, Joseph found a cave-like place where they could rest. This place was used by shepherds to protect their sheep in stormy weather. It was there that Mary gave birth to Jesus. The baby was wrapped in swaddling clothes and laid in the straw in the manger.

Now, that night the shepherds were out in the fields guarding their sheep. Suddenly, there was a bright light which startled them. The light was so bright that it turned the night into daylight. Of course, the shepherds were frightened. Nothing such as this had ever happened. Soon an angel appeared and calmed them. The angel said: "Fear not for behold, I bring you good tidings of great joy, which shall be to all people. For unto you is born this day in the city of David a Savior; which is Christ the Lord. And this shall be a sign unto you: You shall find the babe wrapped in swaddling clothes, lying in a manger" (Luke 2:11-12).

Then a larger group of angels appeared. They praised and glorified God and sang, "Glory to God in the highest, and on earth peace, and good will toward men" (Luke 2:14). When the angels finished singing, they disappeared and the light began to fade. It became dimmer and dimmer until it was dark again. The shepherds were awed. They didn't know what to do. Finally, they decided to leave their flocks of sheep and go to Bethlehem. They decided that they wanted to see for themselves what the angels had told them. When they got to Bethlehem, they found Mary, Joseph, and the infant Jesus. They fell to their knees and adored Jesus.
Some Wise Men came from the East for they knew of the coming of Jesus. They had seen a star that told them that a new king had been born to the Jews. They followed the star and were looking for the child. At this time the governor of Judea was King Herod. He was a wicked man and was feared and hated by the people. When Herod heard about the Wise Men looking for the child, he invited them to his palace. Herod asked the Wise Men to find the child so that he, too, could worship Him. But Herod was lying. He did not want anyone to take his place. The Wise Men went on to look for Jesus. The Star led them to Jesus and Mary. When the Wise Men found Jesus, they fell to their knees and worshipped Him. They gave Jesus gifts of gold, frankincense, and myrrh. The Wise Men left but did not return to Herod. They had a dream that warned them that Herod wanted to harm Jesus. Instead, they returned to their native country by a different route.

Saint Nicholas the Wonderworker
Commemorated on December 6

St. Nicholas was born in Lycia (in Asia Minor) around the end of the third century, to pious Christian parents. His love of virtue, and his zeal for observing the canons of the Church, were evident from his infancy, when he would abstain from his mother's milk every Wednesday and Friday until the evening. From early youth he was inclined to solitude and silence; in fact, not a single written or spoken word of the Saint has come down to us. Though ordained a priest by his uncle, Archbishop Nicholas, he attempted to withdraw to a hermit's life in the Holy Land; but he was told by revelation that he was to return home to serve the Church publicly and be the salvation of many souls.

When his parents died, he gave away all of his inheritance to the needy, and thereafter almsgiving was his greatest glory. He always took particular care that his charity be done in secret. Perhaps the most famous story of his open-handedness concerns a debt-ridden man who had no money to provide dowries for his daughters, or even to support them, and in despair had resolved to give them into prostitution. On three successive nights the Saint threw a bag of gold into the window of the man's house, saving him and his daughters from sin and hopelessness. The man searched relentlessly to find and thank his benefactor; when at last he discovered that it was Nicholas, the Saint made him promise not to reveal the good deed until after he had died.

God honored his faithfulness by granting him unparalleled gifts of healing and wonderworking. Several times he calmed storms by his prayers and saved the ship that he was sailing in. Through the centuries he has often done the same for sailors who call out to him, and is considered the patron of sailors and all who go to sea.

His numberless miracles through the ages, on behalf of the countless Christians who have called on him, cannot be told.

He was elected Bishop of Myra not long before the great persecutions under Diocletian and Maximian (c. 305), and was put in prison, from which he continued to encourage his flock in the Faith. When the Arian heresy wracked the Church not long after Constantine came to the throne, St Nicholas was one of the 318 Bishops who gathered in Nicea in 325. There he was so incensed at the blasphemies of Arius that he struck him on the face. This put the other bishops in a quandary, since the canons require that any hierarch who strikes anyone must be deposed. Sadly, they prepared to depose the holy Nicholas; but in the night the Lord Jesus and the most Holy Theotokos appeared to them, telling them that the Saint had acted solely out of love for Truth, not from hatred or passion, and that they should not act against him.

While still in the flesh, he sometimes miraculously appeared in distant places to save the lives of the faithful. He once saved the city of Myra from famine by appearing to the captain of a ship full of grain, telling him to take his cargo to the city. He appeared in a dream to Constantine to intercede for the lives of three Roman officers who had been falsely condemned; the three grateful soldiers later became monks.

The holy bishop reposed in peace around 345. His holy relics were placed in a church built in his honor in Myra, where they were venerated by throngs of pilgrims every year. In 1087, after Myra was conquered by the Saracens, the Saint’s relics were translated to Bari in southern Italy, where they are venerated today. Every year, quantities of fragrant myrrh are gathered from the casket containing his holy relics.

Saint Nicholas is also commemorated on May 9 (The transfer of his relics) and on July 29 (his nativity).

Saint Spyridon the Wonderworker

Commemorated on December 12

Saint Spyridon of Tremithus was born towards the end of the third century on the island of Cyprus. He was a humble shepherd, and had a wife and a daughter, Irene. He used all his substance for the needs of his neighbors and the homeless, for which the Lord rewarded him with a gift of wonderworking. He healed those who were incurably sick, and cast out demons.

Though he was poor himself, his house and table were always open to travelers and those in need. He kept his money in a box which he left open and available to all, not concerning himself with who took from it or whether they were deserving or not. In time, his wife died and, with less worldly cares, he redoubled his prayers and his almsgiving.

He became so well-loved on the island that, when the bishop of the town of Tremithos died, the faithful unanimously chose Spyridon to succeed him, and he thus became a shepherd of rational sheep as well as the beasts he had tended. Despite his sudden elevation in rank, he kept to his former manner of life, traveling everywhere on foot, tending his animals as before, while fulfilling all the duties of a bishop as well. (To portray this godly humility, his icon shows him wearing bishop’s vestments and a peasant’s woven straw hat.)

His compassion for others was boundless. Though he was very strict with himself, he would always break a fast to give comfort to a traveler.

Pages could be filled with stories of the miracles wrought by the holy bishop for the good of his flock: through his prayers he ended a drought, turned a snake to gold to help a poor man, and even raised the dead son of a poor widow.

All the Lives of the saint speak of the amazing simplicity and the gift of wonderworking granted him by God. Through a word of the saint the dead were awakened, the elements of nature tamed, the idols smashed.

His radiant virtue touched the consciences of those he met so that many would spontaneously fall at his feet and confess their sins.

When the Emperor Constantine summoned the First Ecumenical Council in 325, Spyridon attended, dressed in his simple peasant’s garb. At one of the sessions, a proud Arian philosopher challenged the Orthodox to a debate about the Holy Trinity, and was amazed when the simple Spyridon stepped forward to accept the challenge. He and all the other bishops were far more amazed when the uneducated peasant bishop confounded all the Arian’s arguments with his eloquent, Spirit-inspired words. The humbled philosopher admitted that he was convinced, embraced the Orthodox faith, and called upon the other Arians to abandon their human wisdom and embrace the true and life-giving Faith.

At that Council, Saint Spyridon displayed the unity of the Holy Trinity in a remarkable way. He took a brick in his hand and squeezed it. At that instant fire shot up from it, water dripped on the ground, and only dust remained in the hands of the wonderworker. “There was only one brick,” Saint Spyridon said, “but it was composed of three elements. In the Holy Trinity there are three Persons, but only one God.”

The holy bishop always celebrated the Divine Liturgy with joy. Once, serving in a remote, almost empty church, he turned to the invisible congregation and said "Peace be unto all!", and his disciple heard a choir of angels respond "And with thy spirit!"

Saint Spyridon reposed in peace in 348 at the age of seventy-eight. His incorrupt and wonder-working relics poured forth miracles for the people of Cyprus until the seventh century, when they were moved to Constantinople to escape the Arab invasion; when the City fell to the Turks, the relics were again moved to Corfu, where they are venerated to this day. Even after 1,500 years, the holy relics remain incorrupt and work many life-giving wonders. Saint Spyridon is venerated as the Patron of Corfu.
