The Glare by Margot Harrison is about Hedda, who was raised to be scared of technology, and goes to live with her dad in California. Hedda and her friends discover a horror game on the dark web that is rumored to kill the players if they die in the game a certain number of times. This is a suspenseful story with great sensory details that let you experience Hedda's fear as she connects with technology and discovers darkness inside of her.. This enthralling book will send shivers down your spine and be almost impossible to put down.
