CONSENT TO COLLINS AND ESTREM, P.A. PRIVACY POLICY AND DUAL REPRESENTATION

We are required by the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act to inform clients of our policies regarding privacy of client information. We are also required by Minnesota Rules of Professional Conduct to obtain the consent of our clients when we represent more than one person in the same matter. Please review the information below and, if you consent, sign at the bottom of the page.

Nonpublic Personal Information We Collect. We collect nonpublic personal information about you that is provided to us by you or obtained with your authorization. We do not disclose nonpublic personal information about current or former clients obtained in the course of representation of those clients, except as expressly or impliedly authorized by those clients for purposes of our representation (such as discussions with your accountant, financial advisor, insurance agent or family members designated by you) or as required or permitted by law or applicable provisions of codes of professional responsibility governing our conduct as lawyers.

Confidentiality and Security. We retain records relating to professional services that we provide so that we are better able to assist you and, in some cases, to comply with professional guidelines or requirements of law. In order to guard our nonpublic personal information, we maintain physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards that comply with federal regulations and our professional standards.

Destruction of Files. We reserve the right to destroy client files seven (7) years after they are closed.

Dual Representation. Dual representation occurs when an attorney represents two or more clients, such as a married couple, at the same time on the same matter. Such clients may have differing interests or potential or actual conflicts of interests. In amicable circumstances, where the clients apparently have the same objectives, using one attorney is helpful in coordinating an overall plan and in producing cost savings and other efficiencies. If the clients do not remain amicable throughout the representation, however, the attorney will likely need to withdraw from the representation altogether. If the attorney withdraws, clients may experience delay and additional costs in the handling of their legal matter. With regard to client confidences in dual representation situations, the attorney cannot keep information from one or more clients. By consenting to dual representation, the clients authorize the attorney to reveal each of their incomes, assets and liabilities, contents of documents, and other disclosures and information to all co-clients.

I have read and understand the release of confidential information.	ne above information, and I consent to dual representation and to the ition as outlined above.
