Reflection

Ready for Revival: Inside and Out

As the doors open for revival week at Harvest View Church, we feel a real sense of expectation in the air. We spent the last few weeks cleaning every single corner of the building. We made improvements, repaired what was broken, and cleared away the clutter that built up over time. We wanted a sanctuary that looks cared for, clean, and welcoming to everyone who walks through the doors. Walking through the freshly organized rooms, I found myself thinking about how this physical work mirrors our spiritual lives across our mind, spirit, and strength.

It is always easy to focus on outward appearances. Jesus addressed this directly in Matthew 23:25-26 when He warned against cleaning the outside of the cup while leaving the inside full of greed and self-indulgence. He told us to clean the inside of the cup first so the outside may become clean too. Physical tidiness matters, but God looks deeper. Clearing the old junk from our rooms reminds us to sweep away the mental, spiritual, and physical clutter in our lives.

In our minds, toxic thoughts, busy work, and endless distractions act like spiritual junk piled in the corner. Clearing that noise lets us focus on His truth. In our spirit, unresolved bitterness and hidden pride crowd out the Holy Spirit just like broken furniture blocks a hallway. When we surrender those burdens, our spirit breathes again. Even our physical strength needs this cleansing. When we exhaust ourselves on shallow pursuits, we have no energy left for God. Clearing away wasteful habits frees up our physical energy to serve Him fully.

God invites us to examine every part of our inner life before we step into this revival week. He does not want a mere performance. He wants a real, complete cleaning job inside us. We cannot just maintain a nice charade for Sunday morning while ignoring what lies beneath. True revival starts when we surrender our thoughts, our spirit, and our physical strength to His refining grace.

When we address both the outer walk and the inner heart, our worship changes completely. Paul writes in Romans 12:1 that we should present our bodies as a living sacrifice, holy and acceptable to God. He tells us this is our spiritual worship. Offering ourselves as a living sacrifice means bringing our whole selves to His altar. We do not hold anything back. We present a mind, spirit, and body that are cleansed, surrendered, and ready for whatever He wants to do.

Let us celebrate the refreshed look of Harvest View Church this week. We worked hard on it, and it shows. But more importantly, let us yield our minds, spirit, and strength to the Lord. May this season bring true renewal to our congregation as we offer our lives fully to Him.
