

Creatures of the Galapagos

Zach Chalou^x

Logline:

Stuck in a life of hardship, a strong willed boy escapes pirates in search of his lost father; who is believed to be in the undiscovered Galápagos Islands, where the creatures are like none other.

Summary:

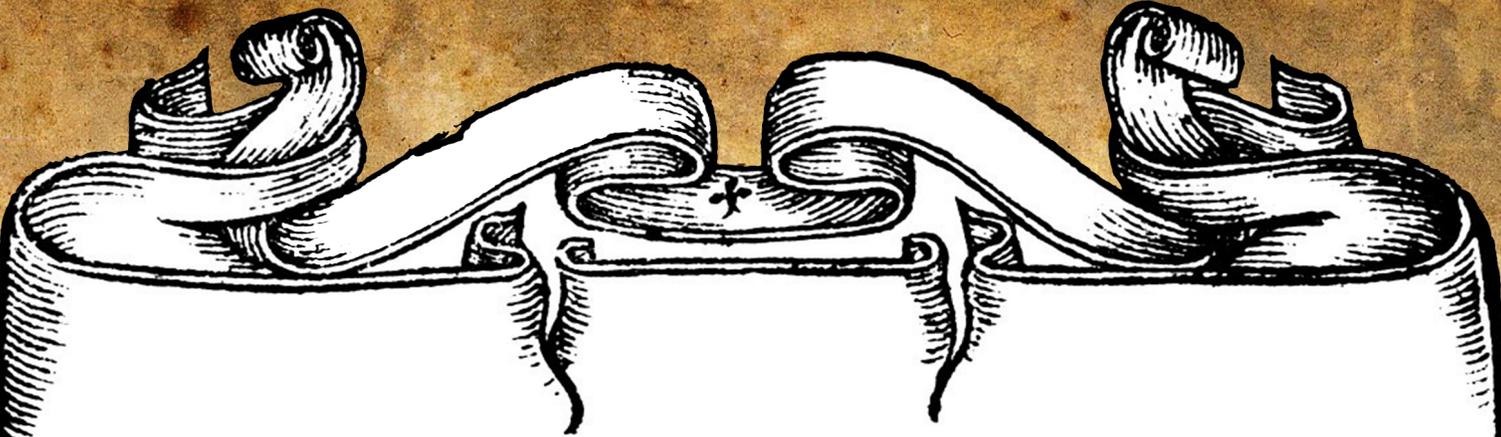

'Creatures of the Galapagos' is a fast paced adventure film that takes place in the 1700's, before the exploration of the Galapagos Islands.

The main character, Colby, is sent out to sea at a young age with pirates to live the life of adventure that his dad, the mayor of a small town, missed. Instead of having the adventure he wanted, he is forced into a life of hardship, and it isn't until 6 years later when he returns home to find his dad missing and the only map to the undiscovered Galapagos Islands gone as well. Colby then steals the pirate ship and travels to the Galapagos where he encounters many obstacles, and he must find his dad before the pirates find him. the creatures on the island have evolved much differently than creatures anywhere else.

Theme:

Family is what makes the adventure worth having

Character Arcs and Synopsis'

James:

Colby's dad, he wants the best for his son, even if what he thinks is the best might actually not be. At the beginning of the story he tells Colby that the key to happiness is exploration. James, however, is the mayor of a small town and therefore can't leave his responsibilities. all he wants for his son is to do the one thing he missed out on: live a life of adventure. he talks about a small island in the pacific ocean that since its discovery, had yet to be travelled to by any explorer. He talks about how the animals there have been so removed that they have evolved into creatures that are nowhere else on earth.

Colby:

At the beginning of the story, he is a young and naive child who believes in one philosophy: adventure brings fulfillment. throughout the story, as he encounters many obstacles with little help, he is forced to grow up. His character hits a low once he finds his father in the southern cape of the island, where he finds out that he is on his death bed. there his father tells him that as soon as Colby left with the pirates, he went on a 6 year journey in efforts to find him. His father tells him how he had never given up, and he realized that it wasn't adventure that gives you fulfillment, it's who you're having the adventure with that makes life worth living. his arc is completed with him realizing that he needs the help of his new family, the people he's met on his adventure, to stop the pirates.

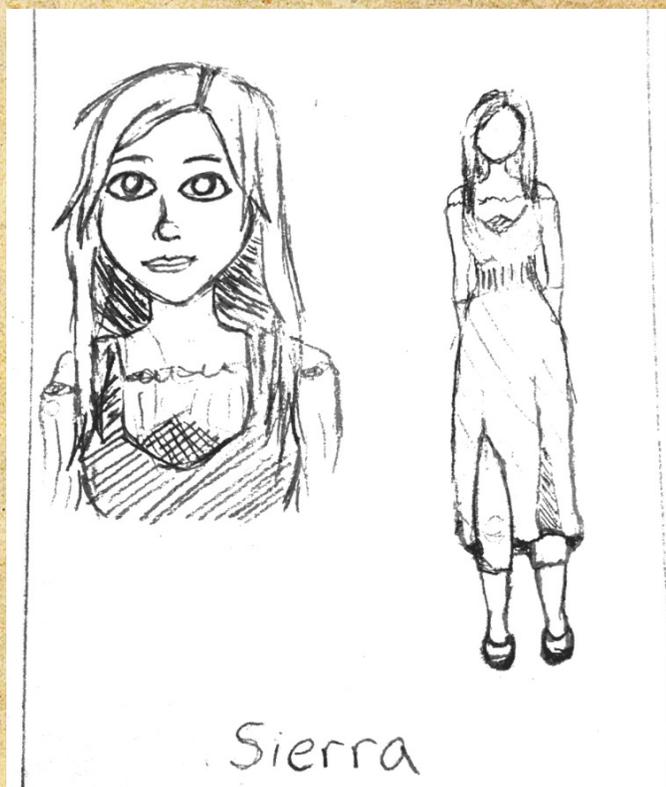

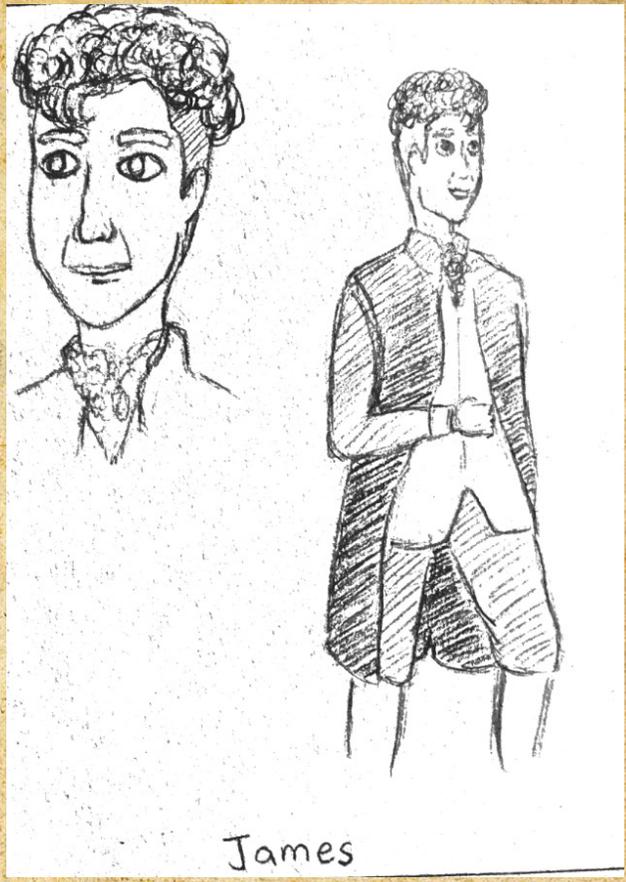

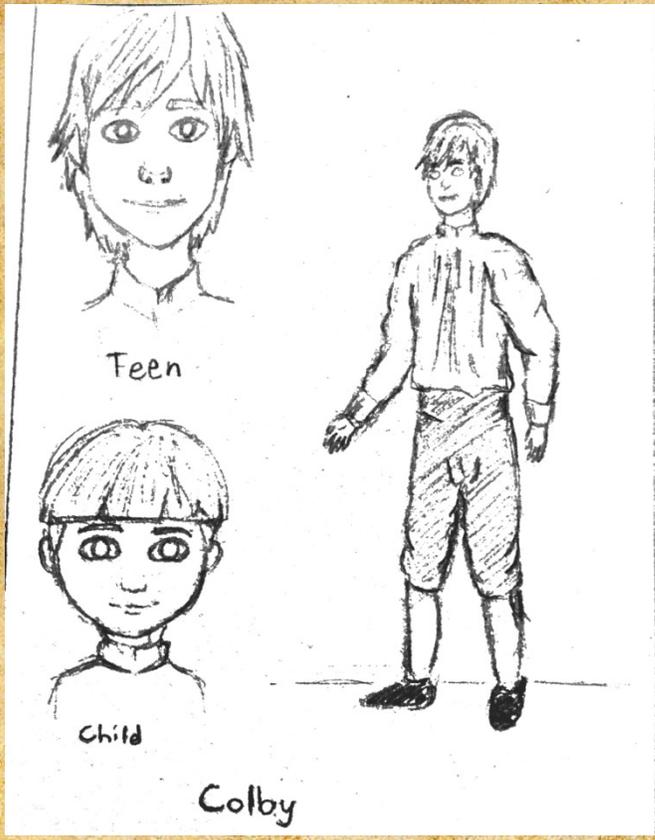

William Parker

The main villain, is the manipulative captain of the pirate ship that Colby joins. In his mind, everything he does is justified and the right thing . He makes Colby the cleaner of the ship who doesn't get involved in any of the action because Colby was the same age as his son was when he died so he wants to keep Colby safe, even if that means keeping him trapped like a slave.

Sierra

His childhood friend, who turns to evil once Colby leaves with the pirates. She ends up getting redemption in the climax, however, she is one of the main villains throughout the story.

Other Character Designs

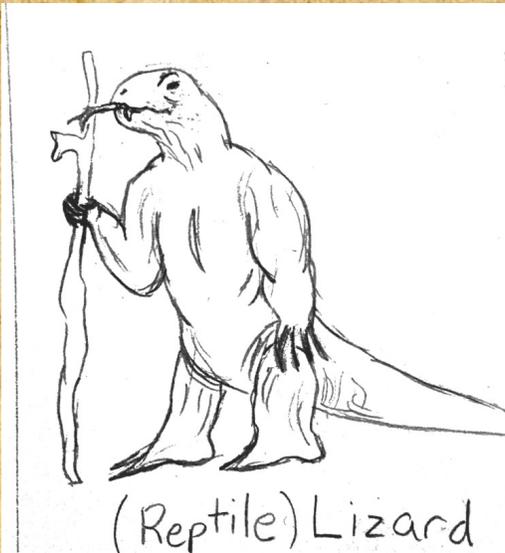

Crew mate (Parker)

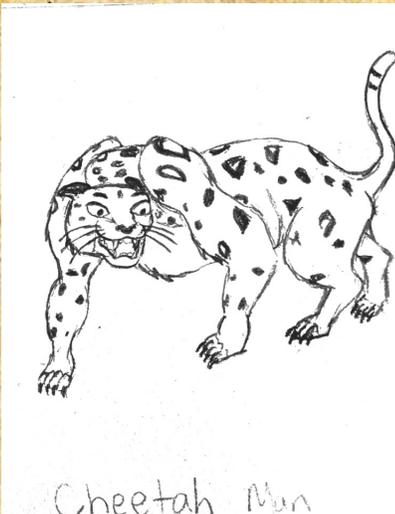

Alicia and Lex

The only native humans on the island, they were shipwrecked at a young age and will help Colby on his adventure

The Creatures of the Galapagos

Can blend into anything, spent the majority of the story trying to hunt down Colby and bring him and his friends to the desert city where they will eat him in a ritual.

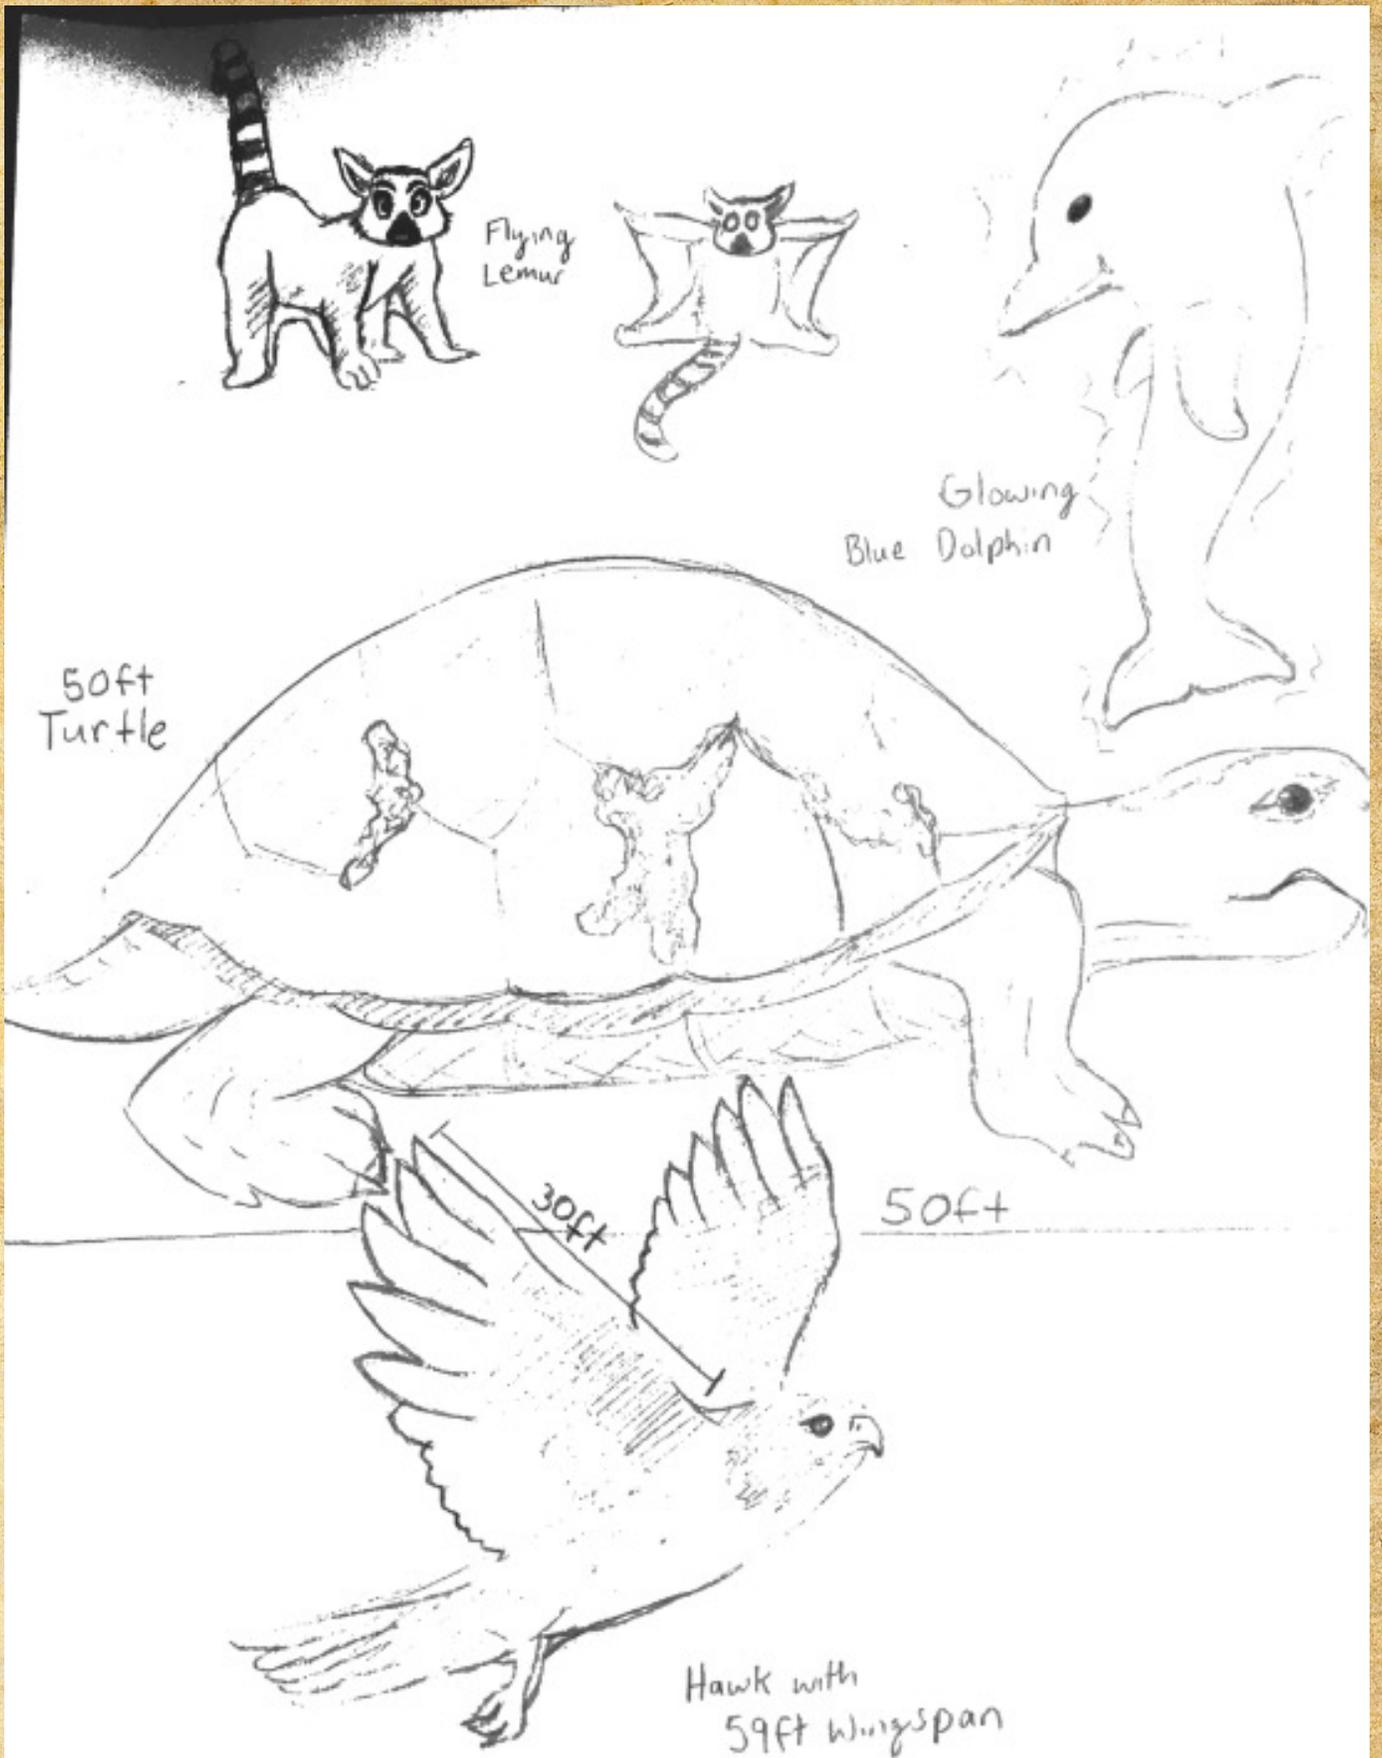

Can run up to 120 miles an hour, saves Colby and brings him to his father in the southern cape town

The comic relief, his species is the most intelligent creature on the island, however he is just a kid. He is innovative and travels around on land using a wagon. One of Colby's closest allies, his goal is to experience the island because everyone else in his species are shut-ins that have never left their river.
