

AROUND
WORLD

A modern twist on a travel show, with a new sense of humor coupled with adventure and mystery. It is something that the new generation will be able to call 'their definitive travel show.' What happens when a group of 6 impractical jokers who have been friends through high school leave everything behind to travel the world, see sights, face fears, and create laughs? You have the next hit series.

The emotional center is around the fears and insecurities about leaving their comfortable world behind and going into the unknown. What happens next are various adventures such as visiting haunted dwellings, searching for the Loch Ness monster, and hunting for hidden tombs. Serious and beautiful locations but with a hilarious twist delivered by a unique group of young men.

Each episode showcases an amazing adventure in an amazing destination, while a congruently running youtube series owned by the network will display fun and simple side adventures. For example, in the hunt for voodoo in New Orleans episode, the side adventures would include alligator hunting in the swamps, or trying to find the best cajun food in the city. With this 'Around the World' would pull in the key demographic of college-aged audiences, which the shows humor would do as well.

Cast

Why us? Like impractical jokers, we've already built a foundation of friendship naturally through our high school. Even though we are a breakfast club of people, all with different personalities and upbringings, we still have chemistry that perfectly balances out.

At the same time, we respect each other and disrespect each other. Everyone will be able to see their friend group in us. They will tune in just to see how we deal with certain situations and interactions as a group when we are out of our comfort zone. People will see us as their 'other' friend group, when the ghost episodes happen the audience will think 'oh no, what's Jake gonna do?' because they'll know us and our fears so well.

ADVENTURE ROOM

Every episode starts with our cast in the adventure room, where Zach will brief them on their mission and they get to provide their commentary

It works as a framing device and is placed throughout the episode

Andre

Reece & Andre

The craigslist hires, Andre and Reece are the crew that Zach must rely on for the technical aspects of his show. Andre, the boom op and sound guy, is simply here to lazily earn a quick buck and is indifferent to filmmaking. The cameraman, Reece, is a passionate artist who has jumped on this chance to be a part of a potential show. His extreme knowledge of cinema is limited by the miniscule budget Zach has given him.

After making funds through a kickstarter we were able to create a proof of concept- a full 26 minute pilot.

How to behave in a library

Pilot - VOODOO

Much like a written sitcom, our cast works
like a dysfunctional family

Every episode will start with our cast taking differing sides of a certain argument (i.e. aliens or ghosts)- then throughout the episode they will interview and work to add to their sides.

The finale of every episode is a big and comedic investigation or race in which our cast has to go out of their comfort zones and all for the petty reward of being right.

While our crew goes on these huge swashbuckling adventures, they will always have fun and tonally will act more like 'Workaholics'
