PODCASTER CAL MURDOCK: LEADER

He always just pursued one thing- truth. At his core that is what makes him not only a good hero, but the best. He will be the fighter for truth and he will stop at nothing for the pursuit of justice. As he saw the power of the deepstate come to light on his podcast he could not just ignore it. He had already been incarcerated multiple times on sticking his nose where he was not allowed. This proved to be excellent training as he would continue this habit long into his life as a protector.

Someone who use to be a conspiracy theory nut and podcaster who now lies as the leading figure in the pursuit of truth.

MONSTER HUNTER PHINEAS FALCON

-a scoundrel. Phineas was never supposed to amount to anything. He is hellbent, drunk, obsessive, and to most onlookers a bad guy. However, redemption is not impossible for anyone to achieve, and Phineas Falcon is proof of that. Throughout his life, he was able to ground himself with his new family and never stop his own personal pursuit of becoming a better person. He does not have the morals Cal has and can even act like a villain if necessary, but that is what makes him such a valuable Protector. His voice as the one who plays by his own rules is one of the reasons as to what makes the protectors so special. Their dichotomy in perspective is necessary when fighting the good fight, and Phineas' self awareness and constant attempt to better himself keeps him from going overboard.

They don't have to always agree when fighting for collective good, at their core they are always on the same side. Phineas's skills as a tracker are invaluable as well as he is consistently the one to get the Protectors to where they need to go.

HEIRESS WITCH SYLVIA WARLOCK

Sylvia is by far the most powerful Protector. She was not always good, however. In her early life she fought for the evil tribe of witches called the Wretched, where she was the heiress for ruler, and it was not until meeting Cal Murdock and feeling inspired to leave that she fled from the tribe. While she and Phineas seek similar things, redemption, Sylvia has by far led a more wicked life. She has a lot of skeletons in the closet and leaving the Wretched is not so simple. She constantly is being hunted by the very family that claimed to love her when they were growing up. This gave her more than a need for redemption, but a need for a family since she had grown such strong trust issues after her family turned on her for becoming a protector. Not only did the Wretched disavow her, but they want her dead. This with the added element of being a public figure with the Protectors means that they are always on her tail and she always has to keep one eye open.

COWBOY DANNY DYNAMITE

Danny Dynamite, a pioneer and a trailblazer, was not someone who was positioned to be on a team of heroes that would go on to save The Kryptoverse multiple times. An extremely intelligent individual who became a successful businessman, Danny did not receive the call to adventure until he was later in life, when his home was attacked by the Deep State. Danny's true colors showed when he selflessly volunteered to defend the realm, which he successfully did. Because of his heroics, he was recruited into The Cowboy Coalition and became one of the last cowboys taking the fight to the Deep State. In order to do this, he had to leave the love of his life behind, as he was needed for the greater good.

Danny carries this guilt around with him in the form of a small picture of his beautiful ex-lover Natalie Mink. Danny is considered the heart of the Protectors, often displaying the highest emotional intelligence out of any member.

BUNNYMAN

A man whose mind is constantly on the brink of collapse, BunnyMan is the best hand to hand fighter in The Protectors. He will not hesitate to bring the fight to the enemy at a moment's notice. Many years ago he was a normal man by the name of Arthur, but that all changed in a horrific incident that left his wife dead and his mind in pieces. Even though BunnyMan is a vengeful maniac driven by rage, The Protectors gave him a new home and steered in the direction of being a force for good. Once BunnyMan's mind is set to something, that goal will be completed no matter how difficult. He is known for his mastery of Katana combat and ability to take nearly anyone in a fight. Through the layers of makeup and his bunny costume is actually a broken man who is using what he has left of himself to be a force of good, and to fight for people who are not able to fight for themselves.

TONE AND STYLE

The show's structure would mirror a graphic novel- with individual episode adventures that ultimately play into a greater seasonal arc. Perfect for binging but also great for just jumping in for an episode and being able to enjoy. The tone would be darker and more grown up while also being reminiscent of the animated series most millennials grew up off of, such as Ben 10 and Justice League Unlimited. A natural way to give viewers a nostalgic feeling for something they have never seen before.

These characters being of original creation gives us the complete freedom of unpredictability. These characters could die at any moment and are not following an already written comic book. They could journey to realms of infinite possibilities and the tone would reflect a world where anything could happen.

OTHER FIGHTERS OF THE REALMS

MAD RASCALS

Differs greatly from all the other teams of the Kryptoverse for one key reason, their morals are significantly more ambiguous. The team is made up of recently revived souls from the underworld who each have had time to refine their skills in hell for hundreds of years. In this team we have a jester, an insane president and a nun with a dark side. Because of this, their existence is a much more heated topic amongst the people of the Kryptoverse. Without goody-two-shoe leader and Cowboy Whisky Nick to guide their decisions, they would probably not exist today. As his first and main team, Whisky Nick feels like the Rascals are his family, a ragtag group of forgotten and lost souls that have not only come back to the land of the living, but now have a national stage as a team of freelance fighters that you can call and have help out with whatever you need. For some of the smaller scale Kryptoverse mysteries, the Protectors of the Kryptoverse are far too busy, leaving the Rascals, who do not mind getting their hands dirty.

SKYLAR VALOR

Skylar Valor is one of the most feared men in all of The Expanse. He commands Lord Gravatox's fleet, The Quintessential Nimax with an iron fist. He is an expert in hand to hand combat, has a superb aim with a laser rifle, and can pilot any ship in the Nimax. And while he eventually turns to helping the Protectors in Kryptowar, can he be trusted?

P.I. GIDEON

A famous tracker of the deserts, Gideon is also in constant control of birds, a power that at first seems infinitesimal but comes in handy when travelling along Gulliver's Pass. Born into one of the most dangerous realms, Patrick Gideon had a hard start to life. He was born into a family of Mountain Nomads, a tribe of various people who wander the many mountains of Guliver's Pass. As he grew from a little boy into a man, his talents had perfected to the point that he learned how to talk to The Western Ravens, the birds that fly over the highest mountains of Guliver's pass.

P.I. Gideon established a network for these birds, using them to send vital messages to the many people of Guliver's Pass. Gideon soon after became the unofficial leader of Guliver's Pass, as he began using his talents with animals to help improve the lives of the citizens in the realm.

TAY HAN

Another Cowboy Coalition member, Han was the final cowboy before it was revived with Danny Dynamite and Whisky Nick. For decades he fought the fight all alone- becoming callused. When he joined the coalition when it was a bustling syndicate he was the wildcard outsider, but today he single handedly is responsible for keeping the traditions alive.

He also single handedly trapped Gravatox in the Shadow Realms- prolonging Kryptowar by years and sacrificing his life in the process. Here he gets sent to the underworld and is eventually revived by Whisky Nick and the Mad Rascals for the sake of the Kryptoverse, making him one of destiny's most valued friends.

DINOMAN

The best Dinosaur scholar and explorer, he founded the realm of Pangea, a realm where dinosaurs still roam freely, and learned to tame them. He uses his adventuring skills to occasionally do superhero work with the Protectors. An Indiana Jones type with Dinosaurs at his disposal.

JACK OF ALL TRADES

Jack is a peculiar figure of the Kryptoverse, as he can duplicate and clone at will. He is the only person in his home realm of Trelleborg, providing a weird experience for anyone travelling through. Before becoming a Northern Raider he spent his time just running his realm.

DR. MOLLUSK

A mad scientist obsessed with Cetaceans, Mollusk goes missing for much of the Deepstate Chronicles, and provides Cal Murdock with the guilt and motivation he needs to track down and collapse the Deepstate. Without Dr. Mollusk, the Deepstate would have never fallen out of power.

VILLAINS

ROGUES OF THE DARK

GUTTO

An alien from The Expanse, Gutto is a deserter from that realm, as he sought something new and different. He founded an entire realm of scum and villainy, where he forces gladiators to fight for entertainment, called Gutto's Arena. It's hundreds of miles of arenas and stadiums, all run by Gutto,

ZANILAB

If one wishes to travel through from the Voreal Customs to the Eons, they take a huge risk by travelling through the Caverns of Corvo. For in the Caverns lives something... sinister. Stories have spread throughout the Kryptoverse about what has gone down in the caverns—especially with all the disappearances that have taken place. But if you actually ignore the stories, however, you'd meet ZaniLab, who has one of the darkest reputations for one of the nicest mystical beings that

FIST MAGNAR

Pirate captain of the pirate realm Scar's Cove, he was elected leader of the pirates and controls the militia any time there's an attacker from the outside realms. He is the most skilled and has an entire army to back him up.

IAN GREY

What Ian Gray did with the Deep State will go down as one of the most impactful things in the entire Kryptoverse. He used his multiple connections to create a shadow government, an organization that would secretly run the world from the shadows by bribing, harassing, or straight up threatening prominent world leaders. However, this method soon proved to take too long.

Ian Gray, and his new sidekick, who we only know by the name of Deep State Soldier, researched ancient satanic practices. They learned a spell that when unleashed, would give them control over their desired subjects' minds. They successfully completed the spell, and gained control over the minds of every single world leader. For nearly 75 years, The Deep State controlled all the political activities of The Kryptoverse. Ian Gray had gone from being picked last at recess to controlling nearly everything.

KRAMPUS

Before the timeline was altered by Phineas, Krampus is known as mad and wretched, using his whole existence as a way to punish kids. This puts him into a strange category of a man who is seemingly evil but whose intentions are pure. His main goal is to set the children of a pre-Kryptoverse Earth on the right path. When the Kryptoverse split, however, so did Krampus' sanity. He started murdering businessmen and neglectful fathers for their parts in creating bad children. And after decades of this his sanity dropped even further, all the way to the point where he would murder children who he saw had no futures and dark hearts. In his deranged brain, this was the only option for making sure there were only good kids.

GRAVATOX

Lord Gravatox is considered by most as the most powerful being in all of The Kryptoverse. By the time The Old Gods of The Kryptoverse reached Gravatox, he had amassed an immense Empire consisting of a powerful space military fleet known as The Quintesimal Nimax, or Nimax for short.

Gravatox massacred The Gods, killing all of them. This led him to find out about The Kryptoverse. Gravatox left The Quintesimal Nimax to keep expanding in The Expanse, while he investigated The Kryptoverse.

He eventually found the portal to the Kryptoverse in the farthest reaches of The Expanse. He found the Hall of Gods, and killed the rest of them, and destroyed the realm, leading it to be called 'The Graveyard of The Gods.' By killing the last of the Old Gods, The Quintesimal Nimax gave Gravatox the title of "Lord", as they saw Lord Gravatox as Lord of the entire Expanse and Kryptoverse now.

Lord Gravatox then created a realm called "The ShadowLands" where he could work on the next phase of his master plan....
