Girls Softball Camp

Samantha has had a remarkable career as a player and coach. At Marlboro High School, she was a six-season starting shortstop, achieving a .522 career batting average and earning a spot in the New York State High School Softball Hall of Fame with state records in doubles, home runs, and RBIs. At the University of Kentucky (2007-2012), she led her team to its first NCAA Super Regional, hit 20 career home runs, and was named 2011 Offensive Player of the Year. A four-year Dean's List member, she also received the 2011 Brad Davis SEC Community Service Award. As head coach at Asbury University (2012-2016), she earned the 2016 KAC Coach of Character award. She served as assistant coach at Miami University (2016-2018), setting program records, and as head coach at Morehead State University (2018-2022), while co-directing showcase events with Future Stars of Sports/NCS Fastpitch.
