

The Horror within the Horror

The British Daily Mail and the Washington Post report a horrific incident. Israel has been ordering hospitals closed in the northern Gaza Strip. The Al-Nasr hospital in Gaza City was bombed in early November and several critical facilities destroyed. By phone and text doctors were warned and threatened to abandon the hospital. They decided to evacuate and doctors and patients set out mainly by foot. However, there were babies in a unit who could not be evacuated. They need oxygen that could not be provided.

The Israeli authorities were notified and they told hospital administration to leave the babies, that they would be taken care of by the International Red Cross. So the doctors left the 4 (or 5, the number is not clear) babies on November 10

During the truce, doctors and a UAE journalist went back to Al-Nasr on November 24. [TRIGGER WARNING] They found the remains of the babies still hooked up to the machines. They died slowly, surely in agony. A hideous war crime.

Of course, Israel denies everything.

Realize that the basic war crime was to demand hospitals be closed and abandoned.
