

Training with Gloria helped me to put the theory into practise and to improve my general knowledge of GDPR. The course was well structured and prepared me sufficiently for the exam with few questions examples that were very helpful. Overall, the course is going to be very useful in my day-to-day job and also to review the current status of compliance in my organisation. I would very much recommend training with Gloria; she is easily approachable and a true professional.

I have attended several training sessions provided by Gloria and all have added value. Gloria has extensive knowledge of data protection legislation and she also has the ability to share that knowledge with her students and to explain sometimes complex issues.

Working with Gloria has been a mutually beneficial partnership and enabled me to bring a talented data protection expert trainer to my clients in Gibraltar. I have also attended, hosted and promoted numerous data protection training courses provided by Gloria, all of which have been extremely successful and served many of my clients well, including HM Government of Gibraltar. She was the trainer of choice for the House of Commons (UK). She is an experienced data protection expert who has extensive knowledge of the General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) and other data protection legislation that sits alongside the DPA 2004 (Gibraltar) or DPA 2018 (UK) in a particular domestic context. No compliance project is too big or small for her to undertake for clients in both the private and public sectors. I take pleasure in recommending her without reservation. She is professional, strategic in her approach, logical, an effective listener and problem solver.
