

Editorial Contract Between Author and Santos Books

Conrad Kanagy will provide developmental editing (creative design and organization), leading the author through the creation, development, and completion of the manuscript per the needs of the author. Kanagy will offer personal coaching as needed and requested by the author up to one hour per month.

Kanagy will give cursory copy-editing feedback but will not serve as final copyeditor or proofreader. The author will serve as copyeditor or proofreader or be responsible for identifying such.

Author is responsible for providing all front matter including (if so desired) a Foreword, Endorsements, Dedication, Table of Contents, Acknowledgments, Preface, etc. Back matter includes a book summary, author bio, and an author photo. Up to twelve photographs or tables/graphs with headings may be included at no extra cost.

Author may provide ideas for cover (front and back) or the actual photos or illustrations for such.

All materials must be to the Editor three months prior to release date.

The author may participate in weekly zoom calls with other authors as well as individual coaching calls as specified above with the editor for two months after the book is released.

Kanagy will promote the book for three months beginning one month before its release using email lists, YouTube, website, Amazon Author site, podcasts, etc. and two months after the release. Kanagy will also provide instructions for the author to create their own related promotional materials at no extra cost.

Santos Books royalty for authors is 10% of the retail price of the book, and price of book is set by Santos Books. Santos Books provides six free copies and authors may indefinitely purchase their books at a 40% discount from Santos Books.

The book is released as paperback. If the author wishes an E-book the cost is 0.60 per page (paid by the author). Cover design is done in negotiation with the author and editor although the author is free to identify and cover the cost of a designer.

The author is free to create an audio version and may have the rights to do so.

Fee is $3000, with first installment of 1500.00 due at contract signing (non-refundable) and final installment due when manuscript is completed unless another arrangement is negotiated with the Editor. There is also a 600.00 design fee unless waived by Santos Books.

This contract may be amended by Santos Books at any time and either party may decide to discontinue engagement at any time without penalty.

The final product, including any errors, is ultimately the responsibility of the author.
