Dear Mrs. & Mr. Ravi Chopra

My name is Saketh Chillara and I am a freshman in college. I have been volunteering with Global Seva Fund for almost 4 years now, from helping at picnics to raising money for children suffering from cancer.

When I initially started volunteering, I used to do it to meet my high school community service requirement. So, I wasn't really volunteering because I wanted to, I was volunteering because I had to. But when I first met Shashiji and Raviji, I saw that they volunteered because they genuinely wanted to help others and make our society a better place. Their wisdom and generosity have helped me realize the importance of serving humanity, they have opened my eyes to society's problems, and without a doubt, they have made me a better person than I was before. Apart from my parents, Shashiji and Raviji have greatly influenced my life and volunteering with them has allowed me to create a direct positive impact in our society and others lives. Aside from all of that, volunteering has taught me some crucial life skills, like taking control of a situation and being proactive. It has also become easier to manage stress from school by volunteering, because serving others provides a kind of relief that instantly puts you in a good mood.

I would like to thank Shashiji, Raviji and the entire GSF Family for introducing me to this amazing cause, and together I believe that we all can leave this world a little better than we found it.

Kind Regards,

Saketh Chillara
