Re: Maddox Henley

To whom it may concern,

I have known Maddox for five years in both the school setting and as his coach. It is my privilege to write this reference for such an exceptional young man.

Maddox is an elite student with an exceptionally high academic ability. His consistently high grades and being ranked in the top of his class show his commitment to pursuing academic excellence. Maddox has a desire to learn and grow and continues to push himself by taking higher level classes. He is a very special student who demands the best of himself in all areas of his life, but especially when it comes to his academic pursuits.

Maddox works exceptionally well in groups or group settings. His ability to demand the best out of himself and others, while keeping a positive and focused environment is something very few are able to do. Although Maddox has natural leadership ability, I have seen him work at this over the years as he has developed these skills to motivate others and hold them accountable.

Maddox has developed a number of leadership skills in the athletic arena. In his time at Vanceleave High School he lettered and played a major role in two sports, as well as being a part of other organizations. These commitments have required him to manage his time well, to prioritize, and to develop the skill to say no to anything that might get in the way of him accomplishing his goals.

Maddox is a young man of unquestionable character and integrity. He strives to do well and has a sincere desire to succeed. If you need any other information please do not hesitate to contact me.

Sincerely,
