BIOGRAPHY

Over the course of 2024, a lot has changed for Molly Gone Mad. They have played over 100 shows since releasing their first song in February, travelling all over the country playing their music in big venues like The HMV Empire in Coventry, Mama Roux's in Birmingham, among many others. In doing so have also found out more about the music that makes them tick.

In sharing their music with more people they have looked further into themselves for inspiration and have already written the music for the second album.

2 Brothers by Blood and 1 by Soul. Molly Gone Mad share a closer bond than most. Their music explores self-identity, anxiety, ambition and failure. The balancing act of life put in a bottle for every song.

Molly Gone Mad are an independent, innovative 3-piece from the UK. Their records, their shows, and energy are intoxicating. Since releasing their debut single in February they've played all over the UK, received 60,000+ streams on Spotify and Apple Music, and gained 500,000 views across socials. There really might be a storm on the horizon...

PROLOGUE

MOLLY GONE MAD'S FIRST ALBUM

Molly Gone Mad will be taking a slightly different trajectory in 2025. There will be hard-hitting, Hip-Hop drums. There will be ethereal, jazz-inspired guitar chords and lines and even FUNKier Basslines than ever before.

The reason? This is who they are. They are a year older and have improved as musicians and this will be clear in the new album. The boys are continuing to write songs that are as honest as possible to themselves.

The decision to make music concerning self-identity, anxiety, ambition and failure was an easy one. They are the feelings and thoughts that the guys are experiencing in an ever-changing world, void of certainty, driven by a desire to make an impact, to do what they love and have a seriously good time doing it.

2025 is going to bring the most authentic music yet, are you ready to GROOVE?
