In times like these, we all need to be prepared for the unexpected, including the devastating possibility of losing a loved one. While we hope it never happens to you, many people find themselves suddenly managing a loved one's property after illness or death.

Dealing with belongings, preparing a home for sale, and resolving an abrupt influx of legal and logistical tasks can be overwhelming, even more so if you are grieving.

This seminar is designed to answer your questions about planning during the pandemic, caring for your loved ones and managing real estate for yourself and your loved ones.

PLEASE WEAR YOUR MASK. We will be practicing social distancing per the covid-19 rules and regulations: wash your hands often and please stay at home if you have any symptoms.

Featured Speakers:

Carlos Prince Gilbert, Owner of Prince Realty Group

Abosede Odunsi, estate planning and probate attorney

Lite refreshments will be provided
