

February 2020 Newsletter

Dear Friends,

The month of January has flown by, or so it seems, and here we are already in February! The weather is wonderfully unpredictable and here in mellow Herefordshire we have cherry trees flowering. They seem eager to welcome Spring!

I would love to welcome you to the monthly Zoom 'Radiating Your Light' session tonight at 8pm GMT.

To join this zoom meeting click here <https://zoom.us/j/3481253419>

Just wish to bring in some housekeeping notes before I share the rest of this newsletter.

As you are receiving this email because you and I have worked together in some way. I have been guided to provide a few new offerings which I wish will serve you.

Energetic Check-in – FREE

My guides, and recently Saint Germaine have encouraged me to offer an Energetic Check-in to you. As you grow in awakening and vibration you may experience various things; feeling wobbly or disorientated; heaviness in various physical parts; pain in various parts of your physical field; headaches, neck aches, throat pain, etc. It is also possible that you may find you begin to hear sounds and feel/sense light beings around you but you find yourself unable to communicate with them. I offer these sessions to help you tune in to receive your own guidance about what is going on.

JOIN ME IN NATURE IN FEBRUARY

Sunday 16th February 2020 - Deerhurst Church, Apperly and River Severn: A shamanic walk with the consciousnesses of nature.

We are surrounded by nature wishing us to interact, love, cherish and blossom within.

In ancient times we worked with the consciousnesses and intelligences of our natural world to heal ourselves and to lift us from the density of the 3D experience. Now it is time to reconnect to this world from our hearts, so that we may each radiate our highest light for the wellbeing of all beings on Earth.

I'll be leading the group in a guided multi-dimensional experience in nature around the ancient church and sacred site at Deerhurst, Gloucestershire. The Deerhurst Church stands on a site which has ancient origins. Beside the Severn River the site has an ageless atmosphere and the energies at the site are both joyous and radiating, and wise and sagacious.

During our experience we will consciously connect to the consciousnesses of trees in the churchyard, huge Cedars and Yews, to learn about their energies and essence directly.

We will practice opening and allowing our fields to connect with the wild plants of the fields, the birds of the air and the Earth spirits which protect the land for the wellbeing of all.

Lorna has been working with Temples of Light and Sound for the past few years in Cornwall and the Midlands and has a calling to help others to connect with these eternal and ancient local spiritual centers as well as with the local deities, divas, light beings and consciousnesses of minerals, as well as elementals of Earth, Air, Water and Fire which inhabit the Earth with us.

Your true self and the land are One!

Following on from last month I was grateful to catch-up with Claire Lewis recently, the first time since she recommended the Iona book to me. Claire kindly agreed to share her experiences and insights about working with the Earth spirits, energies and beings with us all. You will find her contributions in this newsletter. I'm grateful to Claire for her sharings.

17th January - the 'true' Epiphany – contribution from Claire Lewis

When the Gregorian calendar was introduced, 11 days were added to the Julian calendar. Yet feast days kept their established calendar date meaning that they now sit at a slightly different point in the solar year. So 17th January sits at the point in the solar year that was previously 6th January; Epiphany - the day the Magi visited the Christ (Consciousness).

This time last year I was shown a vision of the cosmos from the 'viewpoint of the Gods'. On this day in the annual cycle there is a great cosmic flash of light (the Magi) that illuminates and inspires; an annual 'epiphany moment' that sparks our crown chakras. There is a cosmic alignment of royal stars and we are at the mid point of the galactic calendar, for which 13 is the key to galactic time. In the tarot the 'Crown of the Magi' is the symbolism of the World card.

Interestingly there is a mysterious connection between Rennes le Chateau, a place connected with the Templars, Mary Magdalene and the divine feminine Christ, and 17th January that this blog post discusses - <http://mysteriowritings.com/the-mystifying-and-recurrent-number-of-17> . Yet again there is a connection and reference to the Magi. The book 'The Holy Valley and the Holy Mountain' by Michael Gabriel goes on to explore further the geometric orientation of Rennes le Chateau and it's surrounds to the Galactic, or 13 Moon, calendar.

Gridwork – a contribution from Claire Lewis

For me, and I suspect for many people, 'gridwork' is something that I found myself doing without at first really understanding what was happening. I would feel a strong nudge, or calling, to visit a place. Sometimes it would be a sacred site. At other times a building, road junction or a place in nature such as a tree, rock or spring. The more I honoured these callings the more the synchronicities started to occur and with that downloads and information about the process that was unfolding. Sometimes the periods of gridwork are demanding and intense with powerful mystical experiences associated with the visits. And then there are periods where there is no call and it feels important to be focused on my own personal process. While gridwork can be linked to our own healing process and light body evolution, it is often an act of divine service to the earth and her (and our) ascension and is an essential part of (re)-connecting and (re)-creating the crystalline diamond light grids that underpin the new earth reality. This is still a free will planet and therefore we must participate as co-creators of this process with all the multi-dimensional assistance available and in service to us.

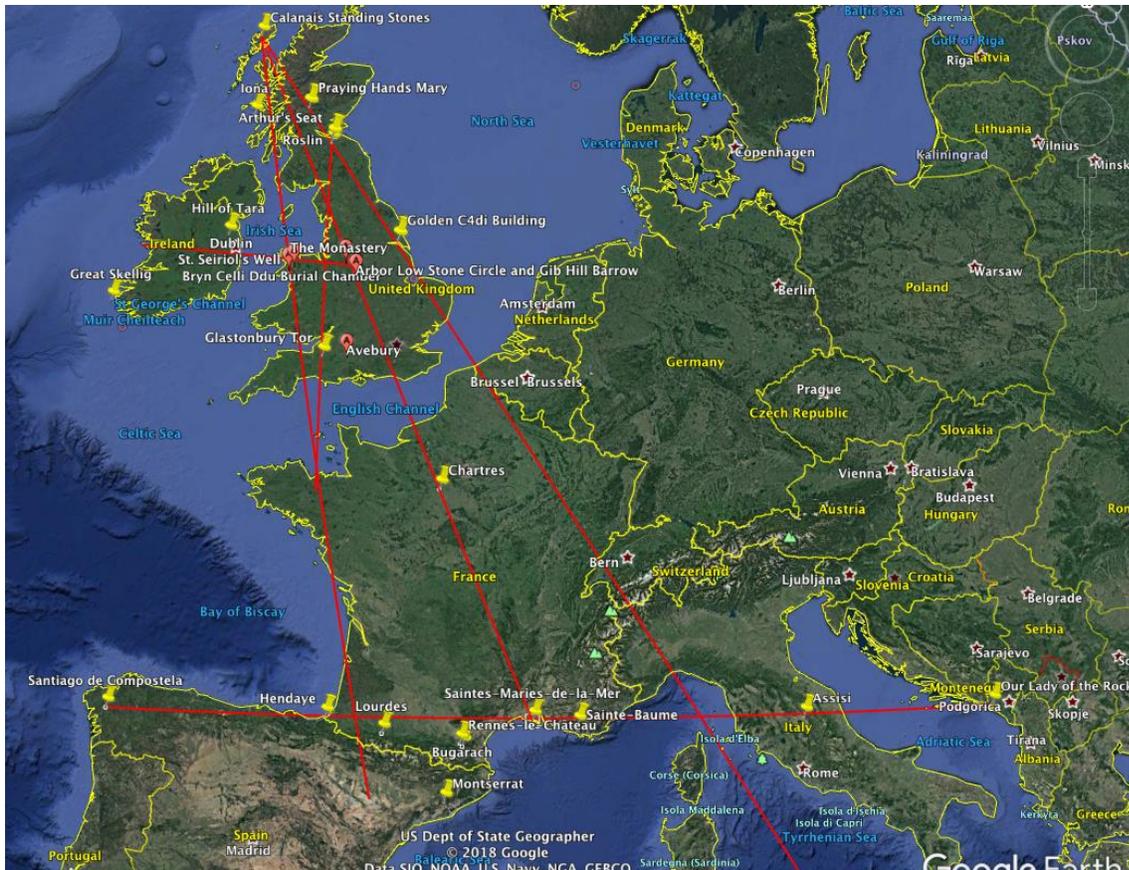

As an example of a piece of gridwork, on one occasion I received an email invitation to a business event at the Guildhall in the City of London. Even though at the time I was winding down in my career and had little interest in the event I felt a strong urge that I was to go. I booked my train ticket and on the day travelled to London. Often as the gridwork draws near I will feel guides close by. Sometimes I have even been 'dialed' into a light ship that will issue detailed guidance on the work to be performed. On this occasion I was just being told that I would be asked to do some work today and I would be notified when. As I emerged out of Bank underground station my guides told me this was the place to do the work. I was drawn to a little square in front of the Bank of England and to a silver pyramid. As I approached I received guidance to walk around the spot 7 times. On this day the sun had turned a somewhat apocalyptic red and at the moment I was at Bank it hung in the sky in perfect alignment down Cheapside towards St Paul's Cathedral. When the work and energy exchange was complete I was told I could carry on my day. This piece of work was short and sweet! Sometimes the 'ritual' can take 30 - 60 minutes and sometimes there is a series of pieces of work over a weekend or period of time at several spots.

A few days later I bumped into a lady and we started talking and it conspired that she had felt a call to London on the same day and at the same time as I was at Bank she was conducting a similar piece of work outside St Paul's Cathedral. Over the past few years this work has connected me with many souls who receive similar guidance. Sometimes the requirement is to do work in a group and a gathering will fall together. At other times it feels like a relay; you get put on standby but someone else in the team is more prepared and able to make a destination and so they are sent instead. It is a magical experience of surrendered divinity in motion.

Claire's Gridmap

I feel called to share here some mapping I did a year ago linking up places I was getting downloads or information about or being sent to, to perform gridwork.

The Fairy at the Fortingall Yew

<https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=4XRa0rGnCVw&feature=youtu.be>

And finally...here is the video I shot of a fairy underneath the Great Fortingall Yew in Scotland. Obviously, she is very small and so it needs to be watched zoomed in on an enlarged screen. But you can see the light strobing through her body and wings and she moves like a little hummingbird listening to my friend singing.

This really resonated:

"A REASON FOR FEAR

Even something as debilitating as fear is here to help you. While it is common to perceive fear as a prime roadblock to liberation, there is a deeper purpose for why it exists. Fear acts as an aspect of intuition, though it is reduced into states of compulsive worry when we are incubating in ego. Just as many people receive gut instincts that intrinsically guide them away from danger, fear is often a sign of preparation. It acts as a reminder to inform us when unexpected moments of greater expansion are set to occur. During moments of fear, a signal is sent from the Universe. It lets the ego know that whatever situation has produced such a frightful feeling is a moment in time, where the ego will further unravel by facing some degree of frustration, inconvenience, loss, or change. Because each moment of our journey occurs in a space of free will, we always have the right to say: Thank you, Universe, for the signal of fear, in response to whatever choice or situation is being considered. I understand that instead of everything going my way, from start to finish, fear is letting me know that I may be facing inconveniences, frustrations, or threats of unexpected loss and change as part of my evolution. I will take some time to consider whether I am up for such a spontaneous moment of growth, knowing that if I choose to pass on this fearful choice, it will be revisited and faced at a later date. Thank you, Universe, for this opportunity to communicate and cooperate together"
