

RESEARCHING THE LAW

There are a number of textbooks and arbitration series which can be used to research the law. They are available in the Labour Relations Board library and in some courthouse libraries. Union offices should have some of the basic texts.

General texts

Canadian Labour Arbitration, Brown & Beatty (Canada Law book)

Collective Agreement Arbitration in Canada, Palmer (Butterworths)

Evidence and Procedure in Canadian Labour Arbitration, Gorsky (Carswell)

Discharge and Discipline II, Krashinsky and Sack (Lancaster House)

Arbitration cases

Labour Arbitration Cases, (4 series) (Canada Law Book)

BC Decisions – Labour Arbitration (Western Legal Publications)
(contains summaries only)

Internet

Quicklaw is an on-line service to which one subscribes (fee is for the time used or monthly). It contains all the LACs and the BC Labour Relations Board decisions. It is searchable.
